Dividends:	Dividends paid on the Series B Non-Cumulative Preferred Shares should qualify as qualified dividend income if, as is intended, the Series B Non-Cumulative Preferred Shares are approved for listing on the NYSE. Qualified dividend income paid in the taxable years beginning on or before December 31, 2008 to certain shareholders is subject to tax at long-term capital gain rates. Congress has passed a bill which would extend this benefit to taxable years beginning on or before December 31, 2010. Dividends paid on the Series B Non-Cumulative Preferred Shares to U.S. corporate shareholders will not be eligible for the dividends-received deduction. There is a risk that dividends, if any, paid prior to the listing of the Series B Non-Cumulative Preferred Shares on the NYSE may not constitute qualified dividend income
