REPORT OF INDEPENDENT REGISTERED PUBLIC ACCOUNTING FIRM

Board of Directors

Force Protection, Inc.

Ladson, South Carolina

Edgar Filing: FORCE PROTECTION INC - Form 10-Q

We have reviewed the accompanying consolidated balance sheet of Force Protection, Inc. and Subsidiaries as of June 30, 2006, and the related consolidated statements of income for the three and six month periods ended June 30, 2006 and cash flows for the six months ended June 30, 2006. These financial statements are the responsibility of the company's management.

We conducted our review in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). A review of interim financial information consists principally of applying analytical procedures and making inquiries of persons responsible for financial and accounting matters. It is substantially less in scope than an audit conducted in accordance with standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the objective of which is the expression of an opinion regarding the financial statements taken as a whole. Accordingly, we do not express such an opinion.

Based on our review, we are not aware of any material modifications that should be made to the accompanying interim financial statements for them to be in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

We have previously audited, in accordance with auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States), the balance sheet of Force Protection Inc. and Subsidiaries as of December 31, 2005, and the related statements of income, retained earnings and cash flows for the year then ended (not presented herein); and in our report dated March 17, 2006, we expressed an unqualified opinion on those financial statements. Our report contained an explanatory paragraph that described a going concern. In our opinion, the information set forth in the accompanying balance sheet as of December 31, 2005, is fairly stated, in all material respects, in relation to the balance sheet from which it has been derived.

As part of such contract, the Company received $6,699,996 in July 2005 as the initial contract milestone payment for accelerated delivery costs. On April 17, 2006 by modification to the JERRV contract, the United States Marine Corps assessed contractual liquidated damages in the amount of $439,344 in respect of eight vehicles delivered late and reduced the amount of the total contract price accordingly.

During the three month period ended June 30, 2006, the Company also confirmed that two former employees had filed claims under 31 U.S.C. §3730 alleging inter alia that the Company had failed to comply with the terms of the JERRV contract in respect of the allocation and use of the initial contract milestone payment for such accelerated delivery costs. Under the terms of such agreement, the Company receives 98.1% of the value of receivables sold to GC Financial within 24-48 hours of delivery of the invoice. The total amount of factoring expense charged to interest expense during the three months ended June 30, 2006 was $269,074. NOTE 14 GAIN/LOSS PER SHARE

The Company utilizes SFAS No. 128, Earnings per Share to calculate gain/loss per share. Basic gain/loss per share is computed by dividing the gain/loss available to common stockholders (as the numerator) by the weighted-average number of common shares outstanding (as the denominator). Diluted gain/loss per share is computed similar to basic gain/loss per share except that the denominator is increased to include the number of additional common shares that would have been outstanding if all potential common stock (including common stock equivalents) had all been issued, and if such additional common shares were dilutive. Under SFAS No. 128, where there is a loss, the inclusion of additional common shares is anti-dilutive (since the increased number of shares reduces the per share loss available to common stock holders), and if the additional common shares are anti-dilutive, they are not added to the denominator in the calculation. For periods, where the additional common shares are anti-dilutive, the following common stock equivalents have been excluded from the calculation of diluted loss per share:

ITEM 2 - MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS

CAUTIONARY STATEMENT CONCERNING FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This Report contains forward-looking statements, including, without limitation, statements concerning possible or assumed future results of operations and those preceded by, followed by or that include the words believes, could, expects, intends, anticipates, or similar expressions. Actual results could differ materially from those anticipated in the forward-looking statements for many reasons including our ability to raise capital when necessary; availability of parts and raw materials for our products; continued customer acceptance of our products; on-going success of our research and development efforts and other risks described elsewhere in this report. Although we believe the expectations reflected in the forward-looking statements are reasonable, they relate only to events as of the date on which the statements are made, and our future results, levels of activity, performance or achievements may not meet these expectations. We do not intend to update any of the forward-looking statements after the date of this document to conform these statements to actual results or to changes in our expectations, except as required by law.

SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

The Securities and Exchange Commission, or SEC, issued Financial Reporting release No. 60, Cautionary Advice Regarding Disclosure About Critical Accounting Policies, or FRR 60, suggesting companies provide additional disclosure and commentary on their most critical accounting policies. In FRR 60, the SEC defined the most critical accounting policies as the ones that are most important to the portrayal of a company's financial condition and operating results, and require management to make its most difficult and subjective judgments, often as a result of the need to make estimates of matters that are inherently uncertain. The methods, estimates and judgments we use in applying these most critical accounting policies have a significant impact on the results we report in our financial statements.

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

As a general rule, financial information is accounted for and based on cost, not current market value. Revenues and gains should be matched using the accrual method with the expenses giving rise to the revenues and gains to determine earnings for the period. Expenses are necessarily incurred to produce revenue. Expenses are then matched in the same accounting period against the revenue generated. Revenues are recognized when they are earned and expenses are recognized in the same period as the related revenue (matching or using a systematic and rational allocation or expensing in the period in which they expire), not necessarily in the period in which we receive or expend cash.

We believe the following critical accounting policies and procedures, among others, affect our more significant judgments and estimates used in the preparation of our consolidated financial statements:

- Revenue recognition;
- Inventory cost and Associated Reserves; and
- Allocation of direct and indirect cost of sales.

In December 2004, FASB issued Statement No. 123(R), Share-Based Payment, which establishes accounting standards for transactions in which an entity receives employee services in exchange for (a) equity instruments of the entity or (b) liabilities that are based on the fair value of the entity's equity instruments or that may be settled by the issuance of equity instruments. Effective in the third quarter of 2005, SFAS 123(R) will require us to recognize the grant-date fair value of stock options and equity based compensation issued to employees in the statement of operations. The statement also requires that such transactions be accounted for using the fair-value-based method, thereby eliminating use of the intrinsic method of accounting in APB No. 25, Accounting for Stock Issued to Employees, which was permitted under Statement 123, as originally issued. To date, we have expensed stock based compensation on the intrinsic method. We are currently evaluating the impact of Statement No. 123 (R) on our financial condition and results of operations.

In November 2004, the FASB issued Statement No. 151, Inventory Costs, to amend the guidance in Chapter 4, Inventory Pricing, of the FASB Accounting Research Bulletin No. 43, Restatement and Revision of Accounting Research Bulletins, which will become effective for us in fiscal year 2006. Statement No. 151 clarifies the accounting for abnormal amounts of idle facility expense, freight, handling costs, and wasted materials. The Statement requires that those items be recognized as current-period charges. Additionally, Statement No. 151 requires that allocation of fixed production overhead to the costs of conversion be based on normal capacity of the production facility. We are currently following Statement No. 151 and do not believe that Statement No. 151 will have a significant impact on our financial condition and results of operations.

Principles of Consolidation: The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Force Protection, Inc., and our two wholly owned subsidiaries, Force Protection Industries, Inc. (formerly Technical Solutions Group, Inc.) and Force Protection Technologies, Inc (formerly TSG International, Inc.) for the three month period ended June 30, 2006. All inter-company balances and transactions are eliminated in consolidation.

Cash Equivalents: For purposes of reporting cash flows, we consider all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents. Cash equivalents consist primarily of United States government securities.

Inventories: Inventories are stated at the lower of cost or market. The cost is determined under the first-in, first-out, or FIFO, base valuation method.

Property, Plant and Equipment: Property and equipment are stated at cost or at the value of the operating agreement. We capitalize additions and improvements which include all material, labor and engineering cost to design, install or improve the asset. Routine repairs and maintenance are expensed as incurred. The capitalization threshold is $2,000 and a useful life greater than one year. Depreciation and amortization are computed using the straight-line method over the following estimated useful lives:

Leasehold and improvements	20 years
Furniture and fixtures	3 years
Machinery and equipment	7 years
Tooling and molds	7 years
Vehicles	5 years

Goodwill: Under SFAS No. 142. Goodwill and other Intangible Assets, all goodwill amortization ceased effective January 1, 2002. Rather, goodwill is now subject to only impairment reviews. A fair-value based test is applied at the reporting level. This test requires various judgments and estimates. A goodwill impairment loss will be recorded for any goodwill that is determined to be impaired. We follow SFAS 142, Goodwill and Intangible Assets, which requires us to test goodwill for potential impairment annually. When the carrying value exceeds fair value, the impairment is the difference between the carrying value of goodwill and the implied value. The implied value of goodwill is the difference between the fair value for the unit as a whole and the value of individual assets and liabilities using an as-if purchase price.

Estimates: The preparation of financial statements in conformity with generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, as well as the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Revenue Recognition: Our revenue is derived principally from the sale of our vehicles and associated spare parts and training services. Revenue from products and services is only recognized at the time goods are shipped or services are actually delivered to and accepted by the customer, with an appropriate provision for returns and allowances. We receive performance based payments based on completion of specific milestones. These payments are recorded as deferred revenue and recognized on the profit and loss statement upon customer acceptance of the completed vehicle. It is our policy to not recognize revenue until customer acceptance. All advance payments are carried on our balance sheet as deferred revenue until acceptance of the vehicle by the customer.

Dividend Policy: We have never declared or paid a cash dividend on our common stock, and we do not anticipate paying any cash dividends on our common stock in the foreseeable future. Any future determination to pay cash dividends on our common stock will be at the discretion of our board of directors and will depend upon our financial condition, operating results, capital requirements, restrictions contained in our agreements and other factors which our board of directors deems relevant. Under the terms of the Certificate of Designation for our Series D Convertible Preferred stock, we are obligated to pay a 6% dividend in cash or shares of common stock on the outstanding shares of Series D stock. Such dividend is due and payable on March 1 and September 1 each year.

FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS

Overview: As a result of increased vehicle production and increased operating efficiencies we generated an operating profit for the second consecutive quarter. For the first time, we have achieved a year-to-date net profit.

For the three month period ended June 30, 2006, gross revenue from all sources was $56,074,537 against which we incurred total cost of goods of $45,917,751 generating a gross profit of $10,156,786. We incurred general and administrative expenses of $7,483,444 (which included a one time settlement provision of $1,928,000) plus research and development expenses in the amount of $641,215 resulting in an operating profit of $2,032,127. We incurred interest expense of $818,985 and other income of $20,873, resulting in a net profit of $1,234,015.

Edgar Filing: FORCE PROTECTION INC - Form 10-Q

For the six month period ended June 30, 2006, we generated positive cash flows from operations of $4,007,196 and realized a year to date net profit of $568,382.

The following table sets forth our consolidated statements of operations for the three month period ended June 30 for the years 2005 and 2006. The discussion and analysis that follows should be read in conjunction with our consolidated financial statements and related notes included elsewhere in this report.

Revenue: Revenue for the three month period ended June 30, 2006 was $56,074,537 representing an increase of $37,779,180 (or 206%) compared to the same period in 2005. During the three month period, we delivered a total of 64 vehicles (5 Buffalo and 59 Cougar JERRV). The increase in revenues was due to higher vehicle production volumes compared with last year, primarily as a result of the JERRV contract that was awarded in May 2005. Our revenue is derived from the sale of our Buffalo and Cougar vehicles and the sale of spare parts, training, field services and other support services. During the three month period ended June 30, 2006, we received $43,765,182 from vehicle sales and $12,309,355 from the sale of spare parts and other support services. The revenue from the sale of spare parts continues to increase, driven by the increasing number of our vehicles delivered and deployed to areas of operations. We intend to continue to develop this spare parts business as an increasingly important part of our revenue base.

Cost of Sales: Cost of sales for the three month period ended June 30, 2006 was $45,917,751 representing an increase of $31,656,586 (or 222%) compared to the same period in 2005. The increase during this period was due to the increased level of vehicle production, and the corresponding increased cost of direct and indirect labor and material associated with our manufacturing activities. The cost of sales for the three month period ended June 30, 2006 was 82% of gross revenues for such three month period representing an 18% gross profit for this period, compared with cost of sales of 78% and a gross profit of 22% for the same period in 2005. The gross margin for this three month period was negatively impacted by the contract definitization of our JERRV contract. As we continue to expand our production capacity, we expect to achieve increased cost efficiency from volume purchasing, improvements in our manufacturing processes and the allocation of indirect costs across a broader production base. We believe this will result in a decrease in our cost of sales as a percentage of gross revenue.

General and Administrative Expenses: General and administrative expenses for the three month period ended June 30, 2006 were $8,124,659 representing an increase of $4,395,119 (or 118%) compared to the same period in 2005. The general and administrative expenses for the period ended June 30, 2006 included $641,215 in research and development expense. We expect our general and administrative expenses to increase over time as we continue to expand our production capacity to meet increasing sales demand, however we expect the percentage of our general and administrative expenses in relation to gross revenues to decrease as we achieve greater efficiencies in our operations. Thus, for example, during the three month period ended June 30, 2006 our general and administrative expenses were 14.5% of our gross revenue as compared with 20.4% for the same period in 2005. We expect this trend to continue. Our general and administrative expenses for the three months ended June 30, 2006 include the one time provision of $1,928,000 in respect of the liabilities associated with the accelerated delivery fee under the JERRV contract, and if such one time contingency is excluded, our general and administrative expenses for such period would be 11.1% of our gross revenue.

Net Profit/(Loss): Net profit for the three month period ended June 30, 2006 was $1,234,015 representing an 844.6% increase over the net profit of $130,633 incurred during the same period in 2005. The improved performance is due to increasing efficiencies and our higher production volumes. Net profit for the six month period ended June 30, 2006 was $568,382 representing our first year-to-date profitable performance.

Backlog:

On May 17, 2004, we announced the award of a contract to deliver twenty-one Buffalo vehicles to the U.S. Army and in October 2004 we were awarded a separate contract by the U.S. Army for an additional fifteen Buffalo vehicles. Initial deliveries under these two Buffalo contracts began during 2004 and 2005, and as of June 30, 2006 we have delivered all thirty-six Buffalo vehicles, leaving no backlog under these two contracts with the U.S. Army.

During the three month period ended December 31, 2005, we announced a new order from the U.S. Marine Corps. for the purchase of four Buffalo vehicles (with associated spares, service and training) for a total contract price of $3,852,026. We delivered all four of these Buffalo vehicles in 2005.

On February 3, 2006, we announced the award of a Letter Contract from the U.S. Army for the delivery of 19 Buffalo Vehicles with an option for an additional 27 vehicles. The Army subsequently reduced the number of the additional vehicles from 27 to 22, for a total of 41. The Letter Contract is subject to definitization of terms. As of June 30, 2006, we have delivered 8 Buffalo, leaving a contract backlog, assuming all options are exercised, of 33 Buffalo vehicles to deliver under this contract.

On March 2, 2006, we announced the award of a contract with the U. S. Army, whereby we agree to provide the Army with authorized stock list supplies to service its Buffalo route clearance vehicle for the sum of up to $5 million. As of June 30, 2006 we had delivered $4,189,190 of the supplies under such contract.

On April 23, 2004, we announced a contract award to deliver Cougar Hardened Engineer Vehicles, or HEV, to the U. S. Marine Corps, of which fourteen were initially funded under the contract. On March 8, 2005 the U.S. Marine Corps exercised its option to increase the number of HEV vehicles by fourteen, for a total of twenty-eight vehicles. As of June 30, 2006 we delivered a total of twenty-seven HEV vehicles, and have a remaining backlog of one Cougar HEV vehicle to be delivered under this contract, with a value of approximately $400,000.

During the second quarter of 2005 we announced the award of a new contract by the U.S. Marine Corps for delivery of one hundred twenty-two Cougar Joint Explosive Ordnance Disposal Rapid Response Vehicles, or JERRV, to be delivered during 2005 and 2006, with a total value, with associated spares parts and training, of $90,000,000. As of June 30, 2006, we have delivered all 122 JERRV vehicles leaving no backlog under the initial JERRV contract. However, on May 5, 2006 we announced that we were awarded on a sole source basis a fixed price indefinite delivery/indefinite quantity contract with the U. S. Marine Corps. to provide not more than 79 additional JERRV and associated manuals, spare parts, field support and training for an amount not to exceed $51,031,110. As of June 30, 2006, we have not started delivery of these additional JERRV vehicles, leaving a backlog of 79 vehicles with a total value, with associated spares parts and training of $51,000,000.

On June 2, 2006, we announced that on May 31, 2006 the U.S. Army Tank-Automotive and Armaments Command, or TACOM, awarded BAE Systems Land & Armaments L.P. of York, Pa a delivery order in the amount of $180,503,000 as part of a $445,439,000 firm-fixed-price contract for the production and delivery of 378 Iraqi

Light Armored Vehicles, or ILAV, to be delivered to the Iraqi National Army. We have an agreement with BAE pursuant to which we will license to BAE the use of FPI's Cougar vehicle as the basis for the ILAV design, and will act as BAE's principal subcontractor to provide the manpower and other resources needed to produce 50% of the vehicles in Ladson South Carolina. We will also provide 100% of the after sales service and support required under the TACOM agreement. As of June 30, 2006, we have not delivered any of the ILAV vehicles, leaving a backlog of 100% of the contract value, which is approximately $55,000,000 under the current delivery order from TACOM.

We contract for the sale of our vehicles to the U.S. Government under fixed price sales contracts, subject to the provision of the U.S. Federal Acquisition Regulations (FAR). Under FAR 52.216-25 awards may be made subject to future Contract Definitization pursuant to which the contractor agrees to negotiate with the Government following commencement of the contract work to finalize detailed conditions of the contract, including pricing scheduling and other applicable requirements. As part of such negotiations, the contractor is subject to audit by the U.S. Defense Contract Audit Agency of its direct material and labor costs, manufacturing overhead and margin. Based on the audit and the negotiations with the Government, the final definitized contract price may be less than the amount originally stated.

During the three month period ended June 30, 2006, we reached agreement with the U.S. Marine Corps Contracting Officer on a final definitized price for the JERRV contract (M67854-05-D-5091) in the total amount of $89,739,728 representing a reduction of $3,364,405 in the originally stated total contract price. As of June 30, 2006, we have a provision of $326,999 for potential price adjustments on revenue recognized.

Future Deliveries: Set out below is a table showing actual and projected deliveries of our vehicles during 2004, 2005 and 2006 based on our internal estimates although our actual results may vary depending upon parts and material availability, actual production schedules, production efficiencies and other contingencies discussed in this report.

TRENDS, RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

The results of our operations for the period ended June 30, 2006 reflect our continuing growth and production capacity, as our gross revenues for the second quarter of 2006 exceeded our total annual revenues for all of 2005. We believe we have completed the transition from our start-up period to operating profitability as we evolve to become a manufacturing facility with stable production capability. During 2004 we were awarded contracts by the U.S. Army for a total of thirty six Buffalos and by the U.S. Marines for twenty eight Cougars. We were able to build 14 vehicles during that year. In 2005, we produced a total of total of 71 vehicles, representing an increase of 407% from the prior year, and during the six month period ended June 30, 2006, we produced a total of 110 vehicles, representing an annualized increase in 2006 of 210%. During 2005, as we were working to complete our 2004 backlog. We also undertook the work necessary to increase our production capacity to meet the demand for our vehicles under the JERRV contract for one hundred twenty-two Cougars awarded in May 2005. This included substantial vehicle and automotive engineering work, manufacturing engineering development, hiring and training a workforce and the expansion of our manufacturing and administrative facilities. While the JERRV contract reflects a broader, growing demand for our vehicles, we continued to face the challenge of expanding our manufacturing capacity to fully exploit this opportunity. During 2005, we moved aggressively to meet this challenge by expanding our facilities, improving our operating systems and refining our manufacturing processes. These activities required a significant commitment of short term resources, but have positioned us to reap a long-term benefit. The results for the first and second quarter of 2006 demonstrate that we are beginning to reap such benefits in the form of increased liquidity, operating profitability and net profit. We believe the May 31, 2006 ILAV contract offers us a new opportunity for expansion and growth, as it represents a new product line and a new customer orientation.

We recognize there are risks associated with our on-going expansion activities. We continue to rely upon the U.S. Army and the U.S. Marine Corps for 100% of our sales, and if either customer elected not to issue further orders to us it would have a dramatic impact upon our financial performance. We have no reason to believe that such additional orders will not be forthcoming. During the three month period ended June 30, 2006, we received follow on orders for additional JERRV vehicles and secured a new contract for the production of ILAV vehicles.

In the past, we have encountered some delays in securing the necessary components for our vehicles, for example armor steel, truck chassis, axle sets and ballistic glass. To mitigate this risk, we have identified multiple vendors for certain components to ensure we have alternate sources of supply, if necessary. Additionally, we have implemented a program of advance purchasing and stockpiling critical materials. For example, we currently have pre-purchased steel and truck parts to ensure availability of material needed for current and potential future orders. While we do not currently expect the potential non-availability of parts or raw materials to materially affect our operations, there is a possibility that delays or increased costs could negatively impact our financial performance if circumstances change. Apart from the foregoing, the main uncertainty about our future operations is whether we will continue to receive additional orders for our vehicles. It is impossible to predict with certainty whether such future orders will be placed by existing or new customers. If we do not receive future orders, it is unlikely that our business will continue. However, we believe our vehicles provide proven blast and ballistic protection, and that for so long as there is a risk of bodily harm to service personnel from explosive blasts, there will be a market for our products.

LIQUIDITY AND CAPITAL RESOURCES

Current Liquidity: For the six month period ended June 30, 2006, we had a starting cash balance of $1,217,509 and an ending cash balance of $3,469,394 representing a net increase in our cash position for such period of $2,251,885. During this period we incurred positive cash flows from operations of $4,007,196, we received $5,970,735 from the exercise of outstanding warrants and we paid down $5,000,000 of the principal amount due under our short term debt.

Future Liquidity: During the six month period ended June 30, 2006 we experienced positive cash flows from operations of $4,007,196 and were able to retire the majority of our short term debt. During this period, we continued to manage our accounts payable, and continued to factor our U.S. Government receivables under the Purchase and Sale Agreement with GC Financial Services, Inc. which allows us to receive payment within 24-48 hours of vehicle deliveries, reducing the impact of the government contract payment cycle on our short term liquidity. During the remainder of 2006 we expect the infra-structure expenses we have incurred in connection with our production ramp-up will begin to level off or decline and that we will continue to experience increased levels of positive cash flows from operations as we increase the volume of vehicle production. We expect such positive cash flows will allow us to pay down all or a portion of our short term debt and reduce the level of our accounts payable. In addition, on July 24, 2006, we realized net proceeds of $39,187,500 through the sale of 8,250,000 shares of our common stock pursuant to a private placement with institutional investors.

Uncertainties: The amount of working capital that we will require depends on several factors, including without limitation, the extent and timing of sales of our products, future inventory costs, the timing and costs associated with the expansion of our manufacturing, development, engineering and customer support capabilities, the timing and cost of our product development and enhancement activities and our operating results. The realization of a major portion of the assets shown on our balance sheet is dependent upon the success of such future operations. During 2006 we anticipate we will generate cash flows from operations sufficient to satisfy our cash requirements, but if we are unable to do so, we may need to seek alternative sources of cash. Potential sources of such cash could include senior debt facilities, new lines of credit, or additional sales of our securities. If we raise funds through the sale of securities, the common stock currently outstanding could be diluted. There is a risk that such additional financing may not be available, or may not be available on acceptable terms, and the inability to obtain additional financing or generate sufficient cash from operations could require us to reduce or eliminate expenditures for capital equipment, research and development, production, or marketing of our products, or otherwise curtail or discontinue our operations, which could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Inflation & Material Cost

We do not believe that inflation has had or is likely to have any significant impact on our revenues, and we currently are not facing any material shortages of material or parts. We currently have enough steel on hand or on order to manufacture our existing contracts, and we continue to purchase steel anticipating future requirements. If the price of steel increases significantly, the cost of our products could increase, and we may not be able to pass on this cost under our current contracts. As a result, if the cost of our raw materials increases our profitability on such current contracts, if any, could decrease.

We intend to use the net proceeds from the financing to reduce our outstanding accounts payable, cover anticipated capital expenditures required for our continuing facilities and infrastructure expansion, and to provide short working capital to minimize the cyclic nature of the payment of our accounts receivable from the U.S. Government.
