Item 8.01. Other Events.

Update on Russian Patient Information

Previously, on October 17, 2014, HART disclosed that it had been informed by the principal investigator in the Russian trachea transplant study that a patient had passed away, but that the cause of death was not provided to HART. HART was recently informed by both the Russian surgeon and the principal investigator in the study that the cause of death listed on the official death certificate was pneumonia. Structural failure of HART's tracheal scaffold was, therefore, ruled out. Based on this information, HART believes that the death of this patient was related to the patient's underlying condition which was extremely poor at the time of the transplant. The patient had undergone multiple previous failed surgeries before the implantation of the HART-Trachea scaffold. The patient survived for more than one year following implantation of the HART-Trachea, and had returned to an active life during that time.

The information disclosed under this Item 8.01 is being furnished and shall not be deemed "filed" for purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and shall not be deemed incorporated by reference into any filing made under the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, except as expressly set forth by specific reference in such filing.
