Komatsu Ltd., signs a letter of intent to sell its polysilicon business (ASiMI)

Komatsu Ltd. ( Komatsu ) (CEO: Masahiro Sakane) signed a letter of intent to sell 75% of the ownership interest in its U.S. subsidiary, Advanced Silicon Materials LLC ( ASiMI ), to Renewable Energy Corporation AS ( REC ), a Norwegian company. The execution of definitive agreements is expected to take place in April 2005 and the sale is anticipated to close in the first half of fiscal 2005, subject to the completion of negotiations and the satisfaction of certain conditions, including regulatory requirements.

Komatsu decided it is appropriate to sell 75% of its equity ownership in ASiMI in light of the increase in ASiMI's value resulting from current very strong demand for silane gas and market conditions for polycrystalline silicon. The profit related to this transaction will be included in Komatsu's consolidated financial results for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2006.

ASiMI manufactures and sells polycrystalline silicon principally for semiconductor applications and silane gas principally for semiconductor and LCD applications. ASiMI's facilities are located in Butte, Montana. In September 2002, ASiMI contributed its plant in Moses Lake, Washington to establish Solar Grade Silicon LLC ( SGS ), a joint venture with a subsidiary of REC. SGS manufactures and sells polycrystalline silicon exclusively for solar applications. ASiMI currently owns 30% of SGS and the scope of the sale includes such stake.

REC has announced that post acquisition, while continuing operation of ASiMI's silane gas business, it plans to shift ASiMI's focus from polycrystalline silicon for electronic applications to polycrystalline silicon for solar applications. Under long term supply agreements, ASiMI will continue to supply polycrystalline silicon for semiconductor applications to Komatsu Electronic Metals Co., Ltd., a Komatsu subsidiary which manufactures silicon wafers, and its subsidiary in Taiwan, Formosa Komatsu Silicon Corporation. ASiMI will continue to supply polycrystalline silicon for semiconductor applications to all of its present customers in accordance with existing agreements.
