Good afternoon,

As your Verizon Executive Sponsor, I wanted to personally reach out to you regarding the recent announcement of Verizon's intent to acquire MCI and, in particular, what it means to you as our strategic customer.

The transaction adds tremendous strength to the networking and communications services both companies provide. Verizon will be in an even stronger position to offer a full range of solutions to satisfy customer needs under a more efficient operating structure. More specifically, this acquisition will enhance our ability to provide a complete range of services, both domestically and globally, including long distance; wireless and the most sophisticated IP based services. With the acquisition, we can provide superior fiber availability for optical and Ethernet solutions, a robust IP backbone to support leading-edge applications growth, and solid experience in the area of managed services. With the acquisition, we can offer superior end-to-end solutions, a single point of accountability, and, we believe we can do this with an overall lower cost structure.

As Verizon CEO Ivan Seidenberg stated, "This is the right deal at the right time. The transaction is good for both our customers and our shareholders."

On behalf of Verizon, let me assure you that our commitment to you remains steadfast. We will continue to work to deliver complete, end-to-end solutions so that our customers can execute on their business goals, achieve efficiencies, reduce costs and generate value for their stakeholders.

I welcome the opportunity to talk with you regarding any questions, concerns, or feedback you may have.

Warm regards,
