The Company continued to maintain its leading position in the life insurance market in China, with a market share of 44.07%.

The Board of Directors recommended the payment of a final dividend of RMB 0.05 per share for the year to the shareholders whose names are on the register of shareholders on 17 May 2006.

In year 2005, the Company achieved record levels of net profit, total revenues and total assets. For the year ended 31 December 2005, China Life's net profit attributable to shareholders of the Company amounted to RMB 9,306 million, an increase of 29.77% from 2004, primarily driven by adjustments in the structure of the business, improvement in investment income and enhancement of management practices. Basic and fully diluted earnings per share were RMB 0.35. The Company's total revenues amounted to RMB 98,212 million, a 27.87% increase over the previous year. As at 31 December 2005, the Company's total assets were RMB 559,219 million. The Board of Directors recommended the payment of a final dividend of RMB 0.05 per share for the year to the shareholders whose names are on the register of shareholders on 17 May 2006.

Commenting on the annual results of the Company for the financial year 2005, Mr Yang Chao, Chairman of the Board of China Life, said: I am pleased to report encouraging progresses in terms of reforms and business development by the Company in 2005. The Company has made adjustments to its Board of Directors and senior management in its continuing effort to improve corporate governance. As the core member of the China Life Insurance Group Company (the Group), China Life has adopted the Group s new development strategy of transforming itself into a major international financial and insurance group with rational resource allocation, clear strategic advantages, strong core businesses, appropriately diversified operations and the respect of the community and the industry. The Group will be characterised by a high embedded value, strong core competitiveness and highly sustainable development. China Life has integrated this Group strategy into its business objectives, namely, to establish the Company as a world-class life insurance Company with advanced corporate governance, a well-established management system, stringent internal controls, leading technologies, a first-class team, superior service and an outstanding brand. The Company will uphold the guiding principle of scientific development and contribute to the rapid development and improvement of the mainland insurance industry. The Company is committed to expanding and strengthening its business to enhance shareholder value.

Mr. Wu Yan, President of China Life, said: During the year, the Company adhered to a prudent development strategy, resulting in steady business growth, continuous improvement in business structure, and substantial increase in investment income. In addition to continuous growth in operating profits, the Company also achieved further improvement in management as well as greater influence in the society, and maintained our leading position in PRC life insurance market. All staff members of the Company share the same vision, and are determined to fulfil the mission of Focusing on people, Caring for life, Creating value, Serving society .

Strong growth in business, leading position in the market

In 2005, the Company s total revenues were RMB 98,212 million, up 27.87% from 2004. Gross written premiums and policy fees reached RMB 81,022 million, up 22.28% from 2004. Net profit attributable to shareholders of the Company reached RMB 9,306 million, up 29.77% from 2004.

According to figures released by the China Insurance Regulatory Commission (CIRC), the Company continued to maintain its leading position of China s life insurance market, with a market share of 44.07% in 2005.

Business structure further optimized, embedded value further increased

In 2005, leveraging on the positive effects of total budget management and cost management, the Company continued to adjust its business structure with a view to achieving a balanced business growth.

In 2005, gross written premiums were RMB 74,939 million, representing a 22.72% increase from 2004. First-year gross written premiums from long-term traditional insurance contracts amounted to RMB 20,425 million, up 1.14% from 2004. First-year regular gross written premiums reached RMB 18,529 million, up 6.44% from 2004. First-year regular gross written premiums accounted for 90.72% of first-year gross written premiums from long-term traditional insurance contracts.

As at 31 December 2005, the Company s embedded value was RMB 113,954 million, an increase of 26.51% from 2004. The value of one year s sales for the year ended 31 December 2005 was RMB 7,489 million, up 15.14% from 2004. Embedded value is an actuarially determined estimate of the economic value of life insurance business of an insurance Company, excluding the economic value of future new business. The value of one year s sales provides an indication of the value being created for investors by new business activity and hence the potential of the business.

Optimized asset structure, increased investment income

In 2005, the Company adhered to prudent principles and adjusted its investment strategies according to changes in the capital markets. During the year, the Company increased the proportion of bond investments with longer maturities and lowered the proportion of term deposits. In addition, the Company adopted a proactive and yet prudent approach to equity investments and optimized the structure of its foreign exchange assets. The Company also extended the durations of its assets, improved asset-liability match and effectively increased investment income. As at 31 December 2005, the Company's total investment assets (including financial assets and cash and cash equivalents but excluding accrued investment income) amounted to RMB 494,356 million. Investment yield was 3.86%, up 37 basis points from 2004.

Stringent cost control, strong financial positions

In 2005, the Company strived to achieve the realization of business development, structural adjustment and earnings growth, and highlighted core significance of financial management in the Company's overall business management. While ensuring continuous business development, the Company further implemented total budget management to stringently control costs. In 2005, the consolidated cost control ratio was 17.2%, down 1.4 percentage points from 2004.

As at 31 December 2005, the Company's total assets were RMB 559,219 million. Shareholders' equity was RMB 80,378 million. The Company's solvency level was approximately 2.73 times the minimum regulatory requirement. A strong financial position and an adequate solvency level have enabled the Company to expand its business at a rapid pace.

Broadened sales channel, enhanced service quality

The Company has the largest sales team in China's life insurance industry, with the broadest geographic coverage. In 2005, the Company continued to maintain its leading sales capabilities by continuously expanding sales channels and scope of cooperation, as well as stepping up efforts in sales staff training and management. As at 31 December 2005, the Company has approximately 640,000 individual agents, 12,000 direct sales staff, and a network of more than 89,000 cooperating bank branches and post saving offices that have established bancassurance business relationships.

In 2005, the Company continued to strive to improve underwriting and claims management as well as customer service standards. The Company formulated and revised a series of policies and management rules, adjusted and optimized business flows, strengthened controls on business risks, improved its service and upgraded its effectiveness and quality of business processing. The centralized service platform 95519 Call Center was awarded the Best Performing Call Centre in China 2005 by the Customer Relationship Management Professional Committee of the Alliance for Promotion of Informationalization under the Ministry of Information Industry. China Life was the only life insurance Company to receive such award in China. This was also the second consecutive year the Company was granted with this award.

Further improvement in corporate governance and internal control

In order to satisfy regulatory requirements at which the Company is listed in a more effective manner, and to further enhance its corporate governance standards, China Life introduced a series of enhancement initiatives in this area. The Company made changes and enhancements to the Board of Directors and its special committees to further emphasise the roles of independent directors. According to the requirements of the Code on Corporate Governance Practices of the Stock Exchange of Hong Kong, the roles of the Chairman and the President were also separated. In addition, the Company further optimizes its vertically led and centrally managed audit system, with the internal audit team further strengthened and a series of internal auditing systems and guidelines formulated and revised. The Company also allocates sufficient resources and continues to optimize internal control systems and is preparing itself for compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act Section 404.

Since its listing, the Company has placed strong emphasis on the supervision and management on three types of risks: financial, investment and operational. The Company also continuously improved its information disclosure system. The supervisory and control system for internal control and risk management is comprised of the Board of Directors and its Audit Committee and Risk Management Committee, the Company's Supervisory Committee, the Internal Control and Risk Management Committee under the Management, as well as departments exercising internal control and supervisory roles for the Company, including the newly established Internal Control and Compliance Department, as well as the Legal Affairs Department and Audit Department. Continuous improvement in internal control facilitates prevention and management of business risks, which will result in better protection of interests of customers and shareholders.

In February 2006, the Company was awarded The Most Trusted Life Insurance Company in the 2005 Financial Entities Election in China, a major online election in the country. According to the ranking announced by Forbes in April 2006, the Company was ranked 297th among the Top 2000 Global Listed Companies, and was ranked seventh among the companies based in Greater China (including Hong Kong Special Administrative Region, Macau Special Administrative Region and the Taiwan Region). In April 2006, the Company was named The 2005 Leader in Insurance Industry in the 2005 Chinese Service Industry Leaders Awards organized by a number of market research institutes including the Horizon Research Consultancy Group.

In 2006, further development of the country's economy and the expansion of investment channels for insurance funds will bring about more development opportunities for the Company. On the other hand, keen competition in the industry and uncertainties in the capital markets will bring challenges. The Company will adopt a development strategy that is both proactive and balanced. It will further improve corporate governance and enhance its internal control, risk management and business management capabilities. By integrating sales resources, China Life will establish an efficient and effective sales system and back-office support system. The Company will strengthen its market leading position and continue to restructure its business, optimize asset allocation, and strengthen cost control to further enhance profitability.
