Form 425
October 25, 2016

Filed by AT&T Inc.

Pursuant to Rule 425 under the Securities Act of 1933

and deemed filed pursuant to Rule 14a-12

of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934

Subject Company: Time Warner Inc.

Commission File No.: 1-15062

The following talking points were sent to employees of the Investor Relations department:

Suggested talking points distinguishing our Transaction from the proposed LAM/TENCOR deal:

The markets involved in our transaction are much less concentrated than in the LAM/TENCOR matter. Time Warner faces strong and growing competition from numerous content providers and has a small share of any market for video programming.

Similarly, AT&T faces substantial and growing competition in video distribution, especially from strong new OTT players like Netflix, Amazon, Sling TV and now Google.

These differences in market structure make a profound difference in the legal analysis of the two transactions.

In addition, there is also a history of recent, successful entry in both content creation and video distribution, which was not true in LAM/TENCOR.

There is a well-established framework for assuring access to video programming under the FCC program access rules, something that does not exist in the semiconductor manufacturing equipment industry.

This transaction will produce significant synergies that will enable innovation and expand distribution of Time Warner content, and will also increase the investment incentive for superfast 5G broadband technology.
