Top of the Form Item 8.01 Other Events.

On March 4, 2009, Corinthian Colleges, Inc. (the "Company") received written notices that the U.S. Department of Justice has declined to intervene in the previously-disclosed qui tam actions against the Company. Pursuant to the government's notices of non-intervention, the United States District Court for the Central District of California unsealed complaints captioned United States of America, ex rel. Steven Fuhr v. Corinthian Colleges, Inc., and United States of America, ex rel. Nyoka Lee and Talala Mshuja v. Corinthian Colleges, Inc., et al. The United States District Court for the Middle District of Florida also unsealed a complaint captioned United States of America, ex rel. Stephen Backhus v. Corinthian Colleges, Inc., et al.

These complaints are brought by former employees or independent contractors (the "relators") on behalf of themselves and the federal government. They assert violations of the False Claims Act by the Company for alleged violations of the Higher Education Act regarding the manner in which the Company's admissions personnel are compensated. In addition to False Claims Act causes of action, the Lee complaint also alleges causes of action for common law fraud, unjust enrichment and payment under mistake of fact against the Company, Ernst & Young, LLP (the Company's independent auditor), and David Moore, Jack Massimino, Paul St. Pierre, Alice Kane, Linda Skladany, Hank Adler and Terry Hartshorn (all of whom are current or former directors of the Company).

Although the government has declined to intervene in, or take over, these qui tam actions, the relators may continue to pursue the litigation on behalf of the federal government and, if successful, receive a portion of the federal government's recovery. Additionally, upon a showing of good cause, the government has the right to intervene in the actions at a later time. The Company believes its compensation practices regarding admissions personnel have been in compliance with applicable law and intends to defend itself and its current and former directors vigorously in these matters.
