Senior IB Leaders Call Script

Good [morning] and thank you for joining me.

I know that some of you have been briefed about the news, but since not everyone has been brought up to speed, I wanted to take a moment and address this group together.

I also wanted to make sure our leadership team is unified as we communicate this important news.

Earlier today, CVS Health and Aetna issued a joint press release announcing that CVS Health has agreed to acquire Aetna.

This transaction is very exciting for the future of our company. It marks the next step on our journey, and will position Aetna and CVS Health to revolutionize the consumer health care experience.

We will combine Aetna's industry-leading health care benefits and services with CVS Health's 9,700 retail locations, 1,100 clinics and integrated pharmacy capabilities to become the trusted front door to health care.

Together we plan to build an entirely new health care concept that will deliver a better experience, reduce costs and improve access to trusted health care experts in communities across the country.

CVS Health and Aetna are committed to utilizing CVS Health's retail locations as community health hubs for Aetna members and other consumers. These hubs will provide a new health care solution dedicated to improving consumer wellbeing and answering questions about health, prescription drugs and health care benefits.

Our in-store presence will provide an opportunity to redefine the way we interact with customers, allowing us to develop trust, loyalty and lifetime relationships. This will help us retain and grow membership.

We also will deliver care through CVS Health's network of 1,100 in-store clinics, which are significantly less expensive than traditional health care delivery settings.

Integration of CVS Health's pharmacy services and Aetna's clinical data, analytics and care management capabilities will improve medication adherence and care plan compliance while uncovering new ways to impact our members' health.

Together, our solutions will help offset the rising costs of prescription drugs.

Combining Aetna's clinical data and digital assets with CVS Health's pharmacy data and mobile tools will allow consumers to schedule appointments, manage medications, access their personal health data and communicate with health care professionals.

CVS Health is acquiring Aetna because it believes in the exceptional value that our employees provide to our members and partners. We have very different but complementary strengths, and the work of our employees will continue to be important in the combined company.

Together, we will provide greater value to the people we serve, building on our distinguished history and positioning our business for growth and leadership for many years to come.

At the completion of the transaction, we will operate as a separate business unit of CVS Health that will be led by members of Aetna's current management team. This continuity will ensure that we continue to meet our commitments to the millions of people we serve.

While this is an exciting transaction, it is business as usual.

Today's announcement is just the first step in the process, and we expect the transaction to close in the second half of 2018. Until then, Aetna and CVS Health will continue to operate in every respect as two independent companies. Even after the transaction closes, it will take time for the companies to completely integrate and for change to occur.

We have prepared a robust communication plan that covers all our key audiences.

We also are going to invite all Aetna employees to join a town hall meeting on Monday, December 4 at 2 p.m. Eastern, when we will give an overview of the transaction and address questions.

Finally, when you speak with your teams, please make sure that you reinforce our messaging about the transaction. The three main points are:

1. This combination is a positive development. The proposed transaction is the next step in our journey and will allow us to better meet the needs of the people we serve.
2. CVS Health believes in the immense value of our people and capabilities. Aetna's talent is vital to the combined company's success. This transaction will offer many new exciting opportunities for Aetna employees.
3. No changes will take place immediately. The required approvals and integration planning can take many months to complete. During this time, we will continue to operate in every respect as separate companies.

We know that our employees will have a lot of questions about jobs and other topics, and we are committed to updating them as the plan progresses.

I ask that you be proactive: Listen to your teams, and please let us know what is on their minds. It's also important that we all stay focused on the business – and encourage our employees to do the same.

I will now open up the call for questions.
