© 2018 Fidelity National Financial | Do Not Distribute What is Happening? 2 Stewart has entered into an agreement and plan of merger with Fidelity National Financial, a leading provider of title insurance and transaction services to the real estate and mortgage industries. This is a result of our Board of Directors Strategic Alternatives Review process announced last fall.

© 2018 Fidelity National Financial | Do Not Distribute How did we arrive at this decision? 3 This is an exciting opportunity for Stewart The Board determined this is the best alternative for our shareholders: o Capitalizes on Fidelity National Financial's exceptional financial and operating platforms o Allows us to continue building on this legacy and create a stronger organization for the future. o Provides Stewart with the scale, financial strength, access to resources and technology to maintain and grow the Stewart brand and continue providing the services and products our customers have come to expect.

© 2018 Fidelity National Financial | Do Not Distribute What's Next? 4 Stewart and FNF will continue to operate independently until the transaction is finalized, which we expect to happen by the first or second quarter of 2019. It's critically important that we continue running the business, maximizing our performance and upholding our legacy of delivering quality customer service and providing security to our policyholders. As with most transactions of this nature, the agreement is subject to approval by Stewart's shareholders and regulatory authorities and the satisfaction of customary closing conditions.

Forward-Looking Statements

This communication contains forward-looking statements within the meaning of the Private Securities Litigation Reform Act of 1995 including, but not limited to, Fidelity National Financial, Inc.'s ("FNF") and Stewart Information Services Corporation's ("Stewart") expectations or predictions of future financial or business performance conditions. All statements other than statements of historical or current fact included in this communication that address activities, events, conditions or developments that we expect, believe or anticipate will or may occur in the future are forward-looking statements. You can generally identify forward-looking statements by the use of forward-looking terminology such as "anticipate," "believe," "can," "continue," "could," "estimate," "evaluate," "expect," "explore," "forecast," "intend," "likely," "may," "might," "outlook," "plan," "potential," "predict," "probable," "project," "seek," "should," "view," or negative thereof or other variations thereon or comparable terminology. Forward looking statements give our current expectations and projections relating to our financial conditions, result of operations, plans, objectives, future performance and business and these statements are not guarantees of future performance. Because such statements are based on expectations as to future financial and operating results and are not statements of fact, actual results may differ materially from those projected. Neither FNF nor Stewart assumes any duty to update or revise any forward-looking statements, whether as a result of new information, future events or otherwise, as of any future date. The risks and uncertainties which forward-looking statements are subject to include, but are not limited to: changes in general economic, business and political conditions, including changes in the financial markets; weakness or adverse changes in the level of real estate activity, which may be caused by, among other things, high or increasing interest rates, a limited supply of mortgage funding or a weak U. S. economy; our potential inability to find suitable acquisition candidates, acquisitions in lines of business that will not necessarily be limited to our traditional areas of focus, or difficulties in integrating acquisitions; our dependence on distributions from our title insurance underwriters as a main source of cash flow; significant competition that our operating subsidiaries face; compliance with extensive government regulation of our operating subsidiaries; the risk that Stewart shareholders may not adopt the merger agreement; the risk that our stockholders may not adopt the merger agreement; the risk that the necessary regulatory approvals may not be obtained or may be obtained subject to conditions that are not anticipated; risks that any of the closing conditions to the proposed merger may not be satisfied in a timely manner; the risk that the businesses will not be integrated successfully, that such integration may be more difficult, time-consuming or costly than expected or that the expected benefits of the acquisition will not be realized; and other risks detailed in the risk factors discussed in “Item 1.A. Risk Factors” in FNF’s and Stewart’s most recent Annual Reports on Form 10-K, as updated by any Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q, Current Reports on Form 8-K and future filings with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”).
