Item 1. Business

(a) General Description of Business

The Butler Manufacturing Company (the company) was founded as a partnership in 1901, incorporated in Missouri in 1902, and later reincorporated in Delaware in 1969. Its corporate headquarters are located in Kansas City, Missouri, and the company operates manufacturing facilities, engineering offices, and service centers throughout the continental United States, and 15 foreign countries. Principal international operations are conducted through a Chinese wholly owned subsidiary, Butler (Shanghai) Inc., Butler Europe Kft., a wholly owned Hungarian subsidiary, and Saudi Building Systems Ltd., a minority owned Saudi Arabian joint venture.

The company is primarily engaged in the marketing, design, and production of building systems and components for nonresidential structures. Products and services fall into five principal business segments: (1) North American Building Systems, consisting primarily of custom designed and pre-engineered steel and wood frame building systems for commercial, community, industrial, governmental, and agricultural uses; (2) International Building Systems, consisting primarily of custom designed and pre-engineered steel buildings for commercial, community, industrial, and governmental use; (3) Architectural Products, consisting primarily of curtain wall and storefront framing systems, standard and custom window systems, skylights, and roof vents for low-rise, medium-rise, and high-rise nonresidential buildings; (4) Construction Services, providing construction management services for purchasers of large, complex, or multiple site building projects; and (5) Real Estate, providing build-to-suit-to-lease development services for corporations who prefer to lease rather than own their facilities.

The company's products are sold, installed, and serviced through over 3,700 independent dealers or contractors that serve the commercial, community, industrial, agricultural, and governmental markets.

(b) Financial Information About Industry Segments

The information required by Item 1(b) is incorporated by reference to the note captioned Business Segments on pages 28 and 29 of the Company's Annual Report, of which pages 14 through 36 are attached as Exhibit 13.1 to this report. See also items 6, 7, 7A, and 8 of this report.

(c) Narrative Description of Business

North American Building Systems

The company's largest segment, North American Building Systems, includes principally the United States, Canadian, and Latin American pre-engineered metal building systems businesses, as well as the wood frame buildings business and Liberty Building Systems Inc.

The company's North American Building Systems Segment activities consist primarily of the design, engineering, fabrication, and distribution of one to five-story steel and one to two-story wood framed buildings for industrial, commercial, community, governmental, and agricultural uses, such as manufacturing facilities, warehouses, office buildings, schools, churches, shopping centers, restaurants, convenience stores, livestock, and farm buildings. Principal product components of the systems are structural members and a variety of pre-engineered wall and roof components. These are fabricated according to standard or customer specifications and shipped to building sites for assembly primarily by independent dealers. Building components are manufactured for North American sales and export sales in plants located at Galesburg and Charleston, Illinois; Laurinburg, North Carolina; Birmingham, Alabama; Visalia, California; Annville, Pennsylvania; San Marcos, Texas; Lester Prairie, Minnesota; Selmer Tennessee; and Clear Brook, Virginia.

The U.S. export operation markets and engineers metal building systems for the Central American, Caribbean, and select Latin American markets. Shipments are sourced primarily from Butler's U.S. plants and local manufacturing alliances. The company also serves the Canadian market through a branch office in Burlington, Ontario.

Building Systems' products are distributed throughout the world by independent Butler dealers. The dealers provide construction services and in many cases complete design and engineering capabilities.

Nonresidential pre-engineered buildings compete with conventional forms of building construction in the low-rise commercial, community, industrial, agricultural, and governmental markets. Competition is primarily based upon cost, time of construction, appearance, thermal efficiency, and other specific customer requirements.

The company also competes with numerous pre-engineered steel frame building manufacturers doing business within the United States, Canada, Europe, South America, and China. The company believes that its 2001 sales of steel frame pre-engineered building systems within the United States exceeded those of any other nonresidential steel frame pre-engineered building systems manufacturer, with its next largest competitors being NCI Building Systems, Inc., V. P. Buildings Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Grupo IMSA, S.A. de C.V. of Mexico, American Buildings Co., an operating unit of MAGNATRAX Corporation, and Ceco Building Systems and Star Building Systems, operating units of Robertson-Ceco Corporation. Competition among manufacturers of pre-engineered buildings is based primarily upon price, service, product design and performance, and marketing capabilities.

Lester Building Systems, the company's wood frame buildings business, sells its products through independent dealers, and direct-sales operations, and is believed to rank third in sales to Morton Buildings, Inc. and Cleary Buildings, Inc.

International Building Systems

The International building systems business segment includes Butler (Shanghai) Inc., a wholly owned Chinese metal building systems subsidiary; Butler Europe Kft., a wholly owned European metal building systems subsidiary, with manufacturing operations in Hungary, and marketing and engineering subsidiaries in the United Kingdom, France, Germany, and Poland; and Saudi Building Systems Ltd., a minority owned Saudi Arabian metal buildings joint venture.

Butler (Shanghai) Inc. markets, engineers, and fabricates metal building systems for Asian markets from a plant in Shanghai, China. In 2001, the company completed construction of a new office located adjacent to its Shanghai manufacturing facility.

In early 2002, the company announced its intention to add a second manufacturing plant in China. Its costs is anticipated to be approximately $11 million. Production is expected to commence in early 2003

Early in 2002, the company announced it had entered into a letter of intent to sell certain assets of its Hungarian metal building systems subsidiary, close its European sales and engineering offices, and dispose of the remaining assets of the business. The relatively small scale of the European operation, the continued loss position of the business, and a business recession in Europe contributed to this decision. The company recorded a $3.6 million after tax charge related to the disposition of this business. The sale originally anticipated to occur in the first quarter, is now expected to close in the second quarter of 2002.

Saudi Building Systems, Ltd. manufactures pre-engineered steel frame buildings for Middle Eastern markets at manufacturing facilities located in Jeddah, Saudi Arabia.

Architectural Products

This segment includes the operations of the Vistawall group which designs, manufactures, and sells aluminum extruded curtain wall systems for mid and high-rise office markets. Vistawall also sells entry doors, standard and custom architectural window systems, translucent roof and wall systems, custom and standard skylights, and other standard storefront products for low-rise retail and commercial markets. The Vistawall group's products are distributed on a material supply basis to either curtain wall erection subcontractors or general contractors, and through its distribution warehouses, to glazing contractors for storefront and entry door applications. Manufacturing and distribution facilities are located in Warwick, Rhode Island; Newnan and Tucker, Georgia; Modesto, Hayward, and, Rancho Cucamonga, California; Denver, Colorado; Brooklyn Park, Minnesota; Cincinnati and Cleveland, Ohio; Midway, Tennessee; Terrell, Houston, and Dallas, Texas; Tampa, Florida; Chicago, Illinois; Jessup, Maryland; St. Louis, Missouri; Seattle, Washington; and Wausau, Wisconsin. In 2001 Vistawall added to its production capacity with a newly completed extruding and finishing facility located in Midway, Tennessee.

The Vistawall Group operates in highly competitive markets with other national manufacturers which operate multiple plants and distribution facilities, and with regional manufacturers. Competition is primarily based on price, engineering and installation capabilities, delivery, appearance, and other specific customer requirements.

During 2001, the company acquired a 40% interest in Vistawall International Ltd, a United Arab Emirates joint venture formed to design, manufacture, and sell architectural aluminum products in Middle Eastern markets. Investments and business activity in the new joint venture have been minimal during the start-up year.

Construction Services

The company's Construction Services segment consists of Butler Construction, a wholly owned construction subsidiary also known as BUCON, Inc., which provides comprehensive design, planning, execution, and construction management services to major purchasers of construction. Butler Heavy Structures is an operating unit of Butler Construction serving markets requiring large, complex building designs using fabricated mill steel in combination with Butler's pre-engineered secondary structural and metal cladding systems. Revenues from the Construction Services segment are derived primarily from material-erect and material only subcontracts, and selective pursuit of turnkey construction projects using products from several company businesses, predominantly the company's U.S. metal buildings businesses.

This business segment competes with international, national, regional, and local general contracting firms, and whenever possible, performs projects in conjunction with independent Butler dealers. Competition is primarily based upon price, design, speed of project execution, and product performance.

Real Estate

This business segment consists solely of Butler Real Estate, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of the company, which provides value-added real estate development and leasing services to major corporations in cooperation with Butler dealers. Butler Real Estate, Inc. generally functions as a development and financing source during the lead procurement and construction process, and as a seller of the completed project. On the basis of commitments to lease obtained from credit worthy customers, Butler Real Estate, Inc. acquires building sites, arranges with Butler dealers for construction of build-to-suit projects, and sells the completed projects to permanent investors when the facilities are occupied by lessees.

Manufacturing and Materials

The company's manufacturing facilities include most conventional metal fabricating operations, such as punching, shearing, welding, extruding, and forming of sheet and structural steel and aluminum. Other metal manufacturing processes include painting and anodizing. Wood frame manufacturing operations include sawing and truss fabrication. The principal materials used in the manufacture of products include steel, aluminum, wood, and purchased parts. Materials are presently available in sufficient quantities to meet current needs.

In March, 2002, the United States invoked tariffs on certain steel product imports. While it is too soon to determine the impact of such tariffs on nonresidential construction in general and the company's operations specifically, management does not foresee any disruption in the supply of steel products used in its operation. It is also expected that any changes in raw material prices will be passed along in the company's product pricing.

Business Cycles and Seasonal Demand

Historically, the company's sales and net earnings have been affected by cycles in the general economy which influence nonresidential construction markets (see in particular Item 7 of this report). At the close of 2001, most global economies were in a recession, and the near-term outlook for the nonresidential constructions markets were soft. The company also experiences seasonal demand for products and services. Sales for the first, second, third, and fourth quarters of 2001 were $195 million, $214 million, $250 million, and $238 million, respectively.

Backlog

The company's backlog of orders believed to be firm was $291 million at December 31, 2001, 3% lower than a year ago.

Employees

At December 31, 2001 the company employed 4,719 persons, 4,002 of whom were non-union employees, and 717 of whom were hourly paid employees that were members of three unions.

Item 2. Properties

The principal plants and physical properties of the company consist of the manufacturing facilities described under Item 1 and its world headquarters office in Kansas City, Missouri. Through a subsidiary, the company also owns a land development venture with property located on an approximately 75 acre site in San Marcos, Texas. The property is recorded as Assets held for sale and described in a footnote on page 27 in the company's Annual Report. All other plants and offices described under Item 1 are utilized by the company and are generally suitable and adequate for the business activity conducted therein. The company's manufacturing facilities described under Item 1, along with current outsourcing agreements with various domestic and foreign fabricators, provide production capabilities sufficient to meet current and foreseeable needs.

Except for leased facilities listed below, all of the company's principal plants and offices are owned:

- (1) Leased space used for the company's executive offices in Kansas City, Missouri (120,000 sq. ft. lease expired at the end of 2001). The company elected not to renew its executive office lease due to the completion and move to its new $27 million world headquarters building at year-end.

The company also leases a manufacturing facility (50,000 sq. ft. lease expiring in the year 2005 with three five year renewal options) located in Selmer, Tennessee.

Item 3. Legal Proceedings.

There are no material legal or environmental proceedings pending as of March 26, 2002, nor does the company have any known material environmental contingencies as of this date. Proceedings which are pending consist of matters normally incident to the business conducted by the company and taken together do not appear to be material.

The Long Term Incentive Plan referred to in the Report of the Compensation and Benefits Committee on executive compensation contemplates three year performance cycles, each cycle commencing the beginning of each year, the first of which began on January 1, 2001. As stated in the Committee's report, the performance measure for awards is based on total business return, a measure of the creation of economic value in the Company's business. Generally, total business return is calculated by (i) dividing changes in net operating profit after taxes by the weighted average cost of capital, (ii) adding free cash flow for the three year period, and (iii) dividing the result by beginning investment levels. The levels of total business return required for threshold, target and maximum payments over the initial performance period ending in 2003 are 25%, 35% and 55%, respectively. The following table shows the amounts that might be paid with respect to the three year period ended December 31, 2003 to the chief executive officer and the four most highly compensated officers at the threshold, target and maximum levels.
