TYSON CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER RETIRES

Senior VP Dennis Leatherby Named Interim CFO

Springdale, AR - July 28, 2004 - Tyson Foods, Inc. (NYSE:TSN) announced today that Chief Financial Officer, Steve Hankins, has retired from the Company to pursue personal and family interests. Hankins has been with Tyson since 1983 and has held the CFO position since 1998.

"Steve has served us well, both as head of our Information Technology Department and as CFO, particularly through the integration of IBP into the Tyson family of companies," said John Tyson, Chairman and CEO. "We wish him the best as he moves on to other career pursuits."

Dennis Leatherby, currently Tyson's Senior Vice President, Finance and Treasurer, is being named interim CFO while a search, both internally and externally, is conducted. Leatherby has been an officer of the company for 14 years, with extensive experience in the finance and treasury areas of the company. He has been the Treasurer since 1994. Leatherby graduated from Kansas State University in 1982 with degrees in finance and accounting, and worked in corporate banking for seven years before coming to Tyson Foods.

The change is effective immediately
