On February 21, 2003 Sabre Holdings Corporation ("Sabre Holdings") announced that its Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, William J. Hannigan, and Executive Vice President and Chief Financial Officer, Jeffery M. Jackson, are scheduled to present at several financial industry conferences in February. Due to inclement weather in Dallas/Fort Worth, Sabre Holdings cancelled its scheduled presentations at the Goldman Sachs and Morgan Stanley conferences on February 25, 2003.

Sabre Holdings is aware that several travel industry participants have stated that they are seeing travel demand trending below what they expected, because of global security concerns and possible military action, as well as economic and political issues in Latin America. Sabre Holdings is seeing similar trends. If these trends were to continue, Sabre Holdings expects that its revenues would fall below its previously announced revenue range for the quarter ending on March 31, 2003. It is currently too early for Sabre Holdings to determine if its earnings forecast for that quarter will be impacted by these trends. Sabre Holdings will not comment further at this time about its revenue and earnings forecasts.
