Item 7.01 Regulation FD Disclosure

In response to the declaration of bankruptcy by Patriot Coal (Patriot), Peabody Energy (Peabody or the company) is summarizing the potential liabilities related to Patriot, which have been disclosed in materials previously filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The company remains secondarily liable for certain Patriot black lung liabilities, which are statutorily determined. These obligations are estimated to be $150 million and are paid as claims are incurred each year.

- The company has provided $122 million of credit support to Patriot Coal at March 31, 2015. Included in this amount is $15 million in support of Patriot's black lung obligations.

In addition, no Peabody company is signatory to a labor agreement that requires contributions to the 1974 UMWA Pension Plan (multi-employer plan); therefore, the company has no liability to the plan.

Patriot's bankruptcy filings list the company as an unsecured creditor with approximately $4.9 million due from Patriot. This amount is related to a coal terminaling agreement that runs through early 2016. Patriot also owes the company approximately $2 million in reimbursements relating to retiree healthcare obligations paid by the company.

The company will continue to vigorously defend its rights with respect to the above mentioned items.

The company's commitment to fund the VEBA is separate from any actions taken by Patriot. The remaining payments to the VEBA consist of $75 million in January 2016 and $70 million in January 2017.
