DESCRIPTION OF THE COMPANY

Source Capital, Inc., is a major diversified, publicly traded investment company with total net assets approximating $658,000,000. Its investment portfolio includes a wide range of securities with primary emphasis on common stocks.

Source Capital has Common and Preferred shares outstanding, both of which are traded on The New York Stock Exchange. Each of the 1,969,212 outstanding Preferred shares has a prior claim of $27.50 on assets and $2.40 per year on income. The balance of the Company's assets and income are available to the 8,632,436 shares of Common Stock outstanding.

Source Capital's investment objective is to seek maximum total return for Common shareholders from both capital appreciation and investment income to the extent consistent with protection of invested capital and provision of sufficient income to meet the dividend requirements of Preferred shareholders.

Source Capital is not a mutual fund. Thus, it does not repurchase its own shares on demand and does not need to structure its portfolio securities to provide for possible redemptions. As a publicly traded investment company, Source Capital's Common and Preferred shares are bought and sold on The New York Stock Exchange, and the Company is not involved in the transaction.

Source Capital's investment approach emphasizes primarily equity and equity-related investments in seeking to achieve its growth objective for its Common shareholders. The desirability of equity versus fixed-income investments continues to be a subject of debate. Source Capital's position is that without assuming undue risk and recognizing the fixed claim of its Preferred Stock, properly selected stocks offer the better long-term opportunity for overall investment return as well as long-term protection from the large but uncertain threat of inflation. Source Capital's equity investments have been directed toward companies with highly liquid, relatively unleveraged balance sheets, and a demonstrated long-term ability to earn above-average returns on invested capital. Source Capital's equity investment portfolio is based on fundamental judgments of long-term returns attainable from income and appreciation in the securities of such companies and is not derived from overall economic forecasts or stock market predictions.

The Company has adopted a flexible distribution policy. This policy is designed to pay Common shareholders quarterly distributions at a rate that is substantially in excess of net investment income. The rate will be adjusted periodically in response to sustained changes in the net asset value, market conditions, and changes to investment company regulations and tax laws. Only a portion of such distributions is paid from net investment income. The remainder is paid from any net realized capital gains and/or paid-in capital, as determined by each year's results. To the extent the Company realizes net long-term capital gains for any year in excess of the amounts distributed under the Company's distribution policy, such excess will be distributed to shareholders. All distributions are taxable to shareholders as dividend income or capital gain distributions since the Company has accumulated earnings and profits from prior years.

LETTER TO SHAREHOLDERS

TO OUR SHAREHOLDERS:

Source Capital's total net assets increased from $605,487,484 to $657,695,422 during the second quarter. Net asset value per Common share amounted to $69.92 at June 30, 2007, compared with $64.04 at March 31, 2007, and $64.81 at year-end 2006. These changes in net asset value were net of cash distributions of $1.00 paid in both the first and second quarters.

Investment Results, 2007 First Half

For the six months ended June 30, 2007, the net asset value per share of Source Capital's Common Stock increased by 11.1%, as adjusted for reinvestment of distributions paid during the period, while total net assets rose 10.6%. These returns compare with an 8.7% increase in the Russell 2500 Index, a measure of small to medium capitalization stock performance. The foregoing changes were calculated on the basis of reinvesting all dividends and distributions.

Investment Results, 2007 Second Quarter

In the most recent quarter, Source Capital's net asset value per share of Common Stock increased 10.8%, as adjusted for reinvestment of the $1.00 distribution paid during the period, while total net assets rose 10.0%, both on a reinvestment basis. In comparison, the Russell 2500 Index increased 4.9% during the quarter, also on a reinvestment basis.

Distributions to Common Shareholders

A regular quarterly distribution of $1.00 per share was paid on June 15, 2007, to shareholders of record on May 25, 2007. Source Capital's distribution policy allows the Board of Directors to continue to consider changes in net asset value when establishing the quarterly distribution rate, but also provides the flexibility to consider other factors such as current market conditions and changes to investment company regulations and tax laws. It is the intention of the Board of Directors to continue paying quarterly distributions at a rate that is substantially in excess of net investment income as evidenced by the current annual distribution rate of $4.00.

Preferred Dividends

The regular Preferred dividend of $0.60 per share was paid on June 15, 2007, to shareholders of record on May 25, 2007. The changes in the Company's total net assets since year-end 2006 have resulted in changes in the Preferred shares' asset coverage from 1,127% at December 31, 2006 to 1,118% at March 31, 2007, and 1,215% at June 30, 2007. Net investment income provided Preferred dividend coverage of 238% for the second quarter and 145% for the six months, compared with 107% and 93% for the corresponding periods of 2006.

Market Price of Source Capital Shares

The market price of Source Capital Common Stock increased from $67.59 to $68.75 during the first half of 2007. As this $1.16 increase in market price was less than the $5.11 increase in the underlying net asset value, the market premium to net asset value of 4.3% at year-end 2006 reversed to a discount of 1.7% at June 30, 2007. The market price of Source Capital Preferred Stock increased to $32.24 at June 30, 2007, from $31.85 at year-end 2006.

Commentary

The stock market continued its dynamic advance, which began 4½ years ago in 2003, with first-half gains of 6.5% for the Russell 2000 and 7% for the S&P 500, both of which represent strong double-digit rates on an annualized basis. Since the start of 2003, the Russell 2000 has advanced at a rate of 20% per year, the S&P 500 at a 15% rate.

Source has done gratifyingly well so far in 2007, with much of that gain coming in the second quarter. First-half returns were 11.1% for Source, more than two points ahead of the benchmark Russell 2500, and 3-4 points above other indexes. Over longer time periods, Source has been very competitive with the Russell 2500 and achieved double the 10-year annual return of the S&P 500, the index which best represents the market as a whole.

* Annualized Returns.

Source's strong first-half performance was driven by its position in oil services (Noble, Helix and Tidewater, up over 30%), companies supporting pharmaceutical research (Invitrogen and Charles River Labs, up 25%), and CDW, a direct marketer of technology products, mostly to small businesses (+20%).

In the past two Source Capital shareholder letters we discussed the impact of private-equity funds on stock performance. At year-end 2006, we argued that private equity's preference for low- and medium-quality businesses had contributed to the poor relative performance in 2006 of Source's high-quality, efficiently managed portfolio companies. We also made the points that we would not change our investment philosophy and we would continue to emphasize the same high-quality businesses for the Source portfolio as in the past. In the first-quarter letter we were more upbeat and expressed the view that this baleful influence on the market would eventually dissipate, though the timing remained unclear. We continue to think this is the case and, in fact, believe that "eventually" is "now."

There are a number of reasons we take this view. First, although private equity funding continues at high rates, there is no evidence of a significant increase versus last year, which we believe is a prerequisite to continued relative underperformance. Second, we have not seen an increase in deal pricing.

Third, credit spreads have noticeably increased. This means that the interest rate which the private-equity buyer must pay on the debt portion of his highly leveraged purchase is higher. In addition, the appetite of bond buyers for deal paper has clearly diminished. Recently, several financings have been withdrawn or postponed, including Chrysler, Allison Transmission, Service

Edgar Filing: SOURCE CAPITAL INC /DE/ - Form N-CSRS

Master, Expedia, and Dollar General, as buyers have demanded higher rates and more rigorous bond covenants. These trends are likely to make deals harder to do and, potentially, to lower prices.

Finally, private-equity investors have been seeking larger-size target companies. If this continues, as we expect it will, it may have some modest impact on large-cap valuations but, more importantly, will most likely reduce the impact of private equity on the small- and mid-cap universe that is more relevant to the Source portfolio.

The price increase in CDW, which we noted above, was in part the result of an acquisition agreement with Madison Dearborn Partners, a Chicago private-equity firm. Madison Dearborn will pay $87.75 in cash for each CDW share. We viewed this announcement with mixed feelings. Although an eight-point premium over CDW's recent price was clearly positive, we also believed that we would be far better off, and would achieve much more attractive returns on our investment, as a long-term owner of a publicly traded CDW.

We had first purchased CDW in early 2005 and gradually added to our position at prices mostly in the mid- to low-50s. By the end of 2006, CDW was a 4.5% portfolio position, our sixth largest. The opportunity to increase our position at attractive prices was driven in part by several challenges in the business, which CDW needed some time to master. These included capacity expansion (a new warehouse and a big increase in office space), a large acquisition, and a major sales force reorganization.

The sales force reorganization assigned most of CDW's corporate sales reps to defined geographic regions and involved the transfer of many thousands of accounts. It was instituted in March 2006, and perhaps unsurprisingly followed by several quarters of disappointingly flat sales. However, starting this past March, the tide decisively turned, and CDW's corporate sector began posting dramatically better results sales growth of 10-12% each month.

CDW purchased Berbee in October 2006, its largest acquisition ever. Berbee is a reseller of advanced technology products, including network infrastructure, communication systems, storage, and security. It gave CDW access to new product areas and the opportunity to do significant cross selling with its established customers. In addition, with offices in only six Midwestern states, Berbee had considerable expansion potential, either de novo or by acquisition of resellers with similar strategies and products. Early Berbee results have been extraordinarily good, with sales growth averaging +60% for the first and second quarters.

This combination of improved sales to the corporate sector and impressive performance at Berbee produced very strong earnings performance in the first quarter with operating margins up 30 basis points and EPS increasing by 28%, results well above market expectations. Not surprisingly, CDW's stock reacted very favorably to these dramatic improvements in sales, and earnings, rising from $58 a share in early March to $80 in early May, up 38%.

We were, therefore, surprised and shocked to learn in late May that CDW's Board of Directors had agreed to the sale of the company to Madison Dearborn at the price of $87.75, a nominal 10% premium over its recent high. As we discussed above, CDW was in the relatively early stages of emerging from a period of significant investment in its business the new distribution center in Las Vegas, expanded office space in Chicago, the $180-million Berbee acquisition, and a painful, but ultimately successful sales force re-organization. There is little doubt in our mind that the buyer will be capturing most of the future benefits of these actions, leaving shareholders poorly compensated for their patience in owning the stock for the past two years.

We will be voting against the merger at the scheduled August 9 shareholders meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

Eric S. Ende

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2007

NOTE A Significant Accounting Policies

The Company is registered under the Investment Company Act of 1940 as a diversified, closed-end management investment company. The investment objective of the Company is to seek maximum total return for Common shareholders from both capital appreciation and investment income to the extent consistent with protection of invested capital and provision of sufficient income to meet the dividend requirements of Preferred shareholders. The significant accounting policies followed by the Company in the preparation of its financial statements include the following:

1. SECURITIES VALUATION Securities, including any outstanding written call options, listed or traded on a national securities exchange are valued at the last sale price. Securities traded on the NASDAQ National Market System are valued at the NASDAQ Official Closing Price. If there was not a sale that day, securities are valued at the mean between the most recent bid and asked prices. Securities that are unlisted and debt and convertible securities listed on a national securities exchange for which the over-the-counter market more accurately reflects the securities' value, in the judgment of the Company's officers, are valued at the mean between the most recent bid and asked prices or other ascertainable market value. Short-term investments with maturities of 60 days or less are valued at cost plus interest earned, which approximates market value. Restricted securities and securities for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by, or under the direction of, the Board of Directors.

2. USE OF ESTIMATES The preparation of the financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the amounts reported. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. OTHER Securities transactions are accounted for on the date securities are purchased or sold. Dividend income is recorded on the ex-dividend date. Interest income and expenses are recorded on an accrual basis. Dividends payable by the Company on the Preferred Stock are recorded on an accrual basis and distributions payable on the Common Stock are recorded on the ex-dividend date. The distribution allocation at June 30, 2007, is preliminary and may be revised based on operating results for the entire year. The ratios of expenses and net income to average net assets do not reflect the effect of payments to Preferred shareholders.

NOTE B Capital Stock

The Preferred Stock is entitled in liquidation to $27.50 per share plus accrued dividends and may be called for redemption, at the discretion of the Company, at $27.50 per share plus accrued dividends. Dividends may not be declared on the Common Stock if Preferred dividends are in arrears or if the Preferred Stock would not thereafter have an asset coverage of 200% or more. At June 30, 2007, the asset coverage of the Preferred Stock was 1,215%.

The Company issued 47,885 shares of Common Stock under its Reinvestment Plan for Common and Preferred shareholders during the six months ended June 30, 2007.

NOTE C Advisory Fees and Other Affiliated Transactions

Pursuant to an investment advisory agreement, the Company pays First Pacific Advisors, LLC ("Investment Adviser"), monthly investment advisory fees calculated at an annual rate of 0.725% for the first $100 million of total net assets, 0.700% for the next $100 million of total net assets, and 0.675% for any total net assets in excess of $200 million. The Agreement obligates the Investment Adviser to reduce its fee to the extent necessary to reimburse the Company for any annual expenses (exclusive of interest, taxes, the cost of any supplementary statistical and research information, legal expenses related to portfolio securities, and extraordinary expenses such as litigation) in excess of 1¹/₂% of the first $30 million and 1% of the remaining average total net assets of the Company for the year.

The investment advisory agreement provides that it may be renewed from year to year by (i) the Board of Directors of the Company or by the vote of a majority (as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940) of the outstanding voting securities of the Company, and (ii) by the vote of a majority of Directors who are not interested persons (as defined in the 1940 Act) of the Company or of the Investment Adviser cast in person at a meeting called for the purpose of voting on such approval.

For the six months ended June 30, 2007, the Company paid aggregate fees of $69,000 to all Directors who are not interested persons of the Investment Adviser. The Officers of the Company are also officers of the Investment Adviser.

NOTE D Federal Income Tax

No provision for federal taxes is considered necessary because the Company has elected to be taxed as a "regulated investment company" under the Internal Revenue Code and intends to maintain this qualification and to distribute each year all of its taxable net investment income and taxable net realized gain on investments to its shareholders in accordance with the minimum distribution requirements of the Code.

Edgar Filing: SOURCE CAPITAL INC /DE/ - Form N-CSRS

Cost of purchases of investment securities (excluding short-term corporate notes with maturities of 60 days or less) aggregated $23,969,013 for the six months ended June 30, 2007. Cost of investment securities owned at June 30, 2007, was the same for federal income tax and financial reporting purposes. Gains and losses are based on the specific certificate identification method. Gross unrealized appreciation and depreciation for all investments at June 30, 2007, for federal income tax purposes was $271,653,621 and $745,006, respectively, with total net unrealized appreciation of $270,908,615.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2007

The Financial Accounting Standards Board ("FASB") has recently issued Interpretation No. 48, "Accounting for Uncertainty in Income Taxes - an Interpretation of FASB Statement No. 109 (the "Interpretation"), which applies to all registered investment companies, clarifies the accounting for uncertain tax positions. The Interpretation is effective for financial statements for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2006. Management of the Company completed their analysis of the Interpretation and estimates the adoption will have no significant impact on the financial statements.
