Hawaii Electric Light Company, Inc. (HELCO) 2010 test year rate case

The following is an update to the discussion in Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations Electric utility under Most recent rate requests HELCO 2010 test year rate case, which is incorporated herein by reference to pages 58-59 of HEI's and HECO's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2010.

On November 3, 2010, the Public Utilities Commission of the State of Hawaii (PUC) issued an interim decision and order (D&O) in HELCO's 2010 test year rate case proceeding. The interim D&O approved a rate increase for interim purposes as set forth in HELCO and the Consumer Advocate's Joint Statement of Probable Entitlement (JSPE), but adjusted recovery for labor costs downward to 2008 levels, reduced medical, dental and vision benefit costs by approximately 50%, deferred the implementation of decoupling for HELCO until the final D&O is entered in this proceeding, and deferred resetting the heat rate used in HELCO's energy cost adjustment clause (ECAC) calculation. Resetting the heat rate would have shifted revenues that would be included in ECAC revenues to the interim increase. Since the interim D&O deferred implementation of decoupling, the PUC found that a return on average common equity (ROACE) of 10.5% (which does not reflect decoupling), for an overall rate of return (ROR) of 8.593% (which reflects a capital structure that includes 56% common equity), was reasonable for purposes of the interim D&O, instead of the 10.125% ROACE and 8.38% ROR used in the JSPE to reflect the implementation of decoupling and other mechanisms when interim rates go into effect.

HELCO is preparing revised revenue requirements including a proposed rate base reflecting the interim D&O and is required to file the calculation revisions by November 24, 2010. The Consumer Advocate may file comments on HELCO's calculations by December 3, 2010. The interim D&O will be implemented after the PUC issues a decision on HELCO's calculations. If the amounts collected pursuant to an interim D&O exceed the amount of the increase ultimately approved in the final D&O, then the excess would have to be refunded to HELCO's customers, with interest.

In the interim D&O, the PUC (i) indicated that HELCO may provide supplemental testimonies regarding the items excluded from the interim D&O and (ii) requested additional testimony on certain issues related to pension and pension benefits by December 15, 2010 for purposes of the final D&O. The Consumer Advocate may respond to HELCO's additional testimonies and file comments by December 23, 2010.

Management cannot predict the ultimate amount of, and timing for implementing, the interim increase or the ultimate outcome or timing of the final D&O for HELCO's 2010 test year rate case proceeding.

HEI and Hawaiian Electric Company, Inc. (HECO) intend to continue to use HEI's website, www.hei.com, as a means of disclosing material and other important information and for complying with its disclosure obligations under SEC Regulation FD.
