Item 7.01

Regulation FD Disclosure.

On January 3, 2011, interclick, inc. (the “Company”) issued a press release the text of which follows:

interclick Comments on Recent Litigation

interclick, inc. (NASDAQ: ICLK) commented today that a lawsuit has recently been filed alleging that interclick engaged in demographic profiling of internet users for advertising purposes, and that the alleged conduct violates laws relating to electronic privacy and computer use. interclick continually endeavors to be sensitive to the privacy concerns of our customers and the general public, and we believe that our activities are not (and were not) in any way unlawful.

The law firm representing the plaintiff has filed a spate of such lawsuits against other companies, alleging unlawful privacy practices, including one against Google in November and another against Apple in December. Claims similar to those against interclick have been dismissed by some Federal courts. While there can be no assurance of the outcome of the action brought against interclick, we will vigorously defend against any claims that our activities are or were unlawful.

The press release is included herewith as Exhibit 99.1. This information shall not be deemed “filed” for the purposes of Section 18 of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 or otherwise subject to the liabilities of that section. The Company sent a copy of the press release to certain investors and analysts.
