Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Sociedad Química y Minera de Chile S.A.

In our opinion, the accompanying consolidated statement of financial position and the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income, cash flows and of changes in equity present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Sociedad Química y Minera de Chile S.A. and its subsidiaries at December 31, 2012 and December 31, 2011, and the results of their operations and their cash flows for each of the two years in the period ended December 31, 2012 in conformity with International Financial Reporting Standards as issued by the International Accounting Standards Board. Also in our opinion, the Company maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of December 31, 2012, based on criteria established in Internal Control - Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (COSO). The Company's management is responsible for these financial statements, for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting, included in Management's Report on Internal Control Over Financial Reporting appearing under Item 15. Our responsibility is to express opinions on these financial statements and on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our integrated audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States). Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement and whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects. Our audits of the financial statements included examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements, assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, and evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. Our audit of internal control over financial reporting included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, and testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk. Our audits also included performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinions.

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (i) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (ii) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (iii) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

1.4 Description of the nature of operations and main activities, continued

From the Company's caliche ore deposits, the Company produces a wide range of nitrate-based products used for specialty plant nutrients and industrial applications, as well as iodine and iodine derivatives. At the Salar de Atacama, its extracts brines rich in potassium, lithium, sulfate and boron in order to produce potassium chloride, potassium sulfate, lithium solutions, boric acid and bischofite (magnesium chloride). The Company produces lithium carbonate and lithium hydroxide at our plant near the city of Antofagasta, Chile, from solutions delivered from the Salar de Atacama. The Company markets all of these products through an established worldwide distribution network, in more than 100 countries worldwide and generate most of its revenue from foreign countries.

The Company's products are divided into six categories, which are also classified as operating segments: specialty plant nutrition, iodine and derivatives, lithium and derivatives, industrial chemicals, potassium, and other products and services, each of which is described below.

Specialty plant nutrients: This segment is characterized by being closely related to its customers for which we employ specialized staff who provide expert advice in best practices for fertilization according to each type of crop, soil and climate. Within this segment, potassium derivative products and specially potassium nitrate have a leading role in their contribution to crop development ensuring improvements in post-crop life, in addition to improving quality, flavor and fruit color. Potassium nitrate, which is sold in multiple formats and as a part of other specialty mixtures, is complemented by sodium nitrate, potassium sodium nitrate, and more than 200 fertilizing mixtures.

Iodine and derivatives: The Company is the largest producer of iodine in the world, which is a product widely used in the pharmaceutical, technology and nutrition industries. Additionally, iodine is used as X-ray contrast media and polarizing film for LCD displays.

Lithium and derivatives: The Company's lithium is mainly used for manufacturing rechargeable batteries for cell phones, cameras and notebooks. Through the manufacturing of lithium-based products, SQM provides significant materials to address challenges such as the efficient use of energy and raw materials. Lithium is not only used for rechargeable batteries and in new technologies for electric vehicles, but is also used in industrial applications to lower melting temperature and to help reduce energy costs.

Assets and liabilities are translated at the closing date exchange rate as of the date of the Consolidated Statement of Financial Position.

- Income and expenses are translated at average exchange rates for the year.

All resulting foreign currency exchange differences are recognized in the foreign currency translation difference reserve in Equity.

In consolidation, foreign currency exchange differences which arise from the conversion of a net investment in foreign entities are recorded Equity (other reserves). At the disposal date, these exchange differences are recognized in the Statement of Comprehensive Income as part of the gain or loss from the sale.

2.5 Basis of consolidation

(a) Subsidiaries

Subsidiaries are all entities over which the Company has the ability to govern financial and operating policies generally accompanying a shareholding of more than one half of the voting rights. The Company also assesses the existence of control where it does not have more than 50% of the voting power but is able to govern the financial and operating policies by virtue of de-facto control. De-facto control may arise in circumstance where the size of the group's voting rights relative to the size and dispersion of the holdings of other shareholders give the Company power to govern the financial and operating policies.

Subsidiaries are consolidated from the date in which control is transferred to the Company and are excluded from consolidation on the date in which this control ceases to exit.

Intercompany transactions, balances, income and expenses on transactions between group companies are eliminated. Profits and losses resulting from intercompany transactions that are recognized in assets are also eliminated. All subsidiaries apply the same accounting policies as described in Note 3.

Non-controlling interest represent the portion of a subsidiary's net assets and operating results not owned directly or indirectly by the parent company.

(b) Equity accounted investments

Interests in companies in which control is exercised together with another company (joint ventures) or in which the Company has significant influence (associated companies) are accounted for using the equity method. Significant influence is assumed to exist when the Company has interest exceeding 20% of the investee's equity. Under the equity method, the investment is initially recognize at cost, and the carrying amount is increased or decreased to recognize the Company's share of the profit or loss of the investee after the acquisition date. The Company's investments include goodwill identified upon acquisition.

The Company's share of post acquisition profit or loss is recognized in the Statement of Income. When the Company's share of losses in an investee equals or exceeds its interest, the Company does not recognize further losses unless it has incurred a legal or constructive obligations or made payments on behalf of the investee.

The Company determines at each reporting date whether there is any objective evidence that the investments are impaired. If impaired, the Company recognizes an impairment loss in the Statement of Income as the difference between the recoverable amount of the investee and its carrying value.

Unrealized profits and losses resulting from transactions with investees are recognized in the consolidated financial statements to the extent of unrelated investor's interest in the investee. Unrealized losses are eliminated unless the transaction provides evidence of loss from impairment of the assets transferred. The reporting dates and accounting policies of the investees are consistent with those adopted by the Company.

2.6 Segment reporting

Operating segments are reported in a manner consistent with the internal reporting provided to the chief operating decision maker "CODM". The CODM, who is responsible for allocating reserves and assessing performance of the operating segments, has been identified as a committee comprised of the Chief Executive Officer, and the Executive Vice President & Chief Operating Officer. The following operating segments are based on the information provided to the CODM and the organizational structure of the Company:

- Specialty plant nutrients
- Industrial chemicals
- Iodine and derivatives
- Lithium and derivatives
- Potassium
- Other products and services

2.7 Significant accounting judgments, estimates and assumptions

Significant accounting judgments, estimates and assumptions by management to prepare these consolidated financial statements include:

- The useful lives of tangible and intangible assets and their residual values.
- Impairment evaluations of certain assets, including trade and other accounts receivables.
- Assumptions used for impairment the actuarial calculation of liabilities for employee pensions and staff severance indemnities.
- Inventory provisions allowances on slow-moving obsolete in inventories.
- Future costs for and the timing of the closure of mining facilities.
- The determination of the fair value of certain financial and non-financial assets and derivative financial instruments.
- The determination and allocation of fair values in business combinations.

Although these estimates have been made considering information available as of the date of preparation of these consolidated financial statements, it is possible that future events may require their modification. Changes would be recorded prospectively, recognizing the effects of any changes in estimates in future consolidated financial statements. There have been no significant changes in the methodology or assumptions used in these estimates.

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012

Note 3 – Significant accounting policies

3.1 Cash and cash equivalents

Cash equivalents consist of short-term, highly liquid investments that are readily convertible into known amounts of cash and are subject to low risk of change in value, with original maturities of three months or less from the date of acquisition.

3.2 Financial assets

The Company classifies its financial assets under the following categories: at fair value through profit or loss, loans and trade receivables, financial assets held-to-maturity and financial assets available-for-sale. The classification depends on the purpose for which financial assets were acquired. Management determines the classification of its financial assets at the time of initial recognition.

At each reporting date management assesses whether there is any objective evidence that a financial asset or a group of financial assets is impaired. A financial asset or a group of assets is deemed to be impaired if and only if there is objective evidence of impairment as a result of one or more events that has occurred after the initial recognition of the asset or group of assets (a “loss event”) and that loss event or events has an impact on the estimated future cash flows of the financial asset or the group of financial assets that can be reliably estimated.

(a) Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss

Financial assets at fair value through profit or loss are financial assets held for trading. A financial asset is classified in this category if it is acquired mainly for the purpose of being sold in the short-term. Derivatives are also classified as acquired for trading unless they are designated as hedges. Assets under this category are classified as current assets if expected to be settled within 12 months, and their changes in fair value are directly recognized in profit or loss.

(b) Loans and trade receivables

Loans and trade receivables are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments not quoted in any active market. These are included in current assets, except for maturities greater than 12 months from the end of the reporting period, which are classified as non-current assets. The Company's loans and receivables consist of "trade and other accounts receivable" and "cash and cash equivalents" in the Statement of Financial Position (notes 6.1 and 9.2).

(c) Financial assets held to maturity

Financial assets held-to-maturity are non-derivative financial assets with fixed or determinable payments and fixed maturities which management has the positive intention and ability of holding to maturity. If a significant amount of financial assets held to maturity were to be sold, the full category would be reclassified as available for sale. Assets in this category are stated at amortized cost.

3.3 Financial derivatives and hedge transactions

Derivatives are recognized initially at fair value as of the date in which the derivative contract is entered into and subsequently remeasured at fair value. The method for recognizing the resulting gain or loss depends on whether the derivative has been designated as a hedge instrument and if so, the nature of the item being hedged. The Company designates certain derivatives as either:

- (a) Fair value hedges of recognized assets and liabilities or firm commitments (fair value hedges).
- (b) Hedging a forecasted risk associated with a recognized asset or liability or a highly possible forecasted transaction (cash flow hedge).

At hedge inception, the Company documents the relationship between hedging instruments and hedged items, as well as their risk management objectives, and the strategy for undertaking different hedging transactions. The Company also documents its evaluation both at hedge inception and at each reporting period, whether derivatives used in hedging transactions are highly effective in offsetting changes in fair values or in cash flows of hedged items.

The fair value of derivative instruments used for hedging purposes is shown in Note 10.3. (Hedge assets). Movements in the cash flow hedge reserve are classified as a non-current asset or liability if the remaining hedged item is more than 12 months, and as a current asset or liability if the remaining maturity of the hedged item is less than 12 months. Other derivatives are classified as a current asset or current liability, with the change in their fair value recognized directly in profit or loss.

- (a) Fair value hedge

Changes in the fair value derivatives that are designated and qualify as fair value hedges are recorded to profit or loss, as applicable. The change in the fair value of the hedged asset or liability attributable to hedged risk is also recognized in profit or loss.

For fair value hedges related to assets or liabilities recorded at amortized cost, the adjustment of the fair value is amortized against profit or loss during the period through maturity. Any adjustment to the carrying value of a hedged financial instrument for which the effective rate is used is amortized to profit or loss at its fair value attributable to the hedged risk.

If the hedge no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, the fair value not amortized is immediately recognized in profit or loss.

(b) Cash flow hedges

The effective portion of changes in the fair value of derivatives that are designated and qualify as cash flow hedges is recognized in other reserves within equity. The gain or loss related to the ineffective portion is immediately recognized in profit or loss.

Amounts accumulated in equity are reclassified to profit or loss in periods when the hedged item affects profit or loss, such as when the hedged interest income or expense is recognized, or when a forecasted transaction occurs. When the hedged item is the cost of a non-financial asset or liability, amounts recorded in equity are transferred to the initial carrying value of the non-financial asset or liability.

Should the expected firm transaction or commitment no longer be expected to occur, amounts previously recognized in equity are transferred to profit or loss. If a hedge instrument expires or is sold, or when a hedge no longer meets the criteria for hedge accounting, any amounts previously recognized in equity are maintained in equity until the expected firm transaction is ultimately recognized in profit or loss.

3.4 Trade and other receivables

Trade and other receivables relate to non-derivative financial assets with fixed and determinable payments and are not quoted in any active market. These receivables arise from sales involving products and services to customers.

These assets are initially recognized at their fair value, which is equivalent to their face value, and subsequently at amortized cost according to the effective interest rate method less a provision for impairment loss. An allowance for impairment loss is established for trade receivables when there is objective evidence that the Company will not be able to collect amounts which are owed to it according to the original terms of receivables.

3.5 Inventory

Inventories are stated at the lower of cost and net realizable value. Cost is determined based on the weighted average method. The cost of finished goods and products-in-process includes direct costs of materials, direct labor, and other direct costs and related overheads incurred to transform raw materials into finished products, including expenses incurred in transporting inventories to their current location and condition. Net realizable value represents is the estimated sales price in the ordinary course of business less all estimated costs expected to be incurred in the sales and distribution process.

The Company evaluates the net realizable value of inventories at the end of each reporting period, recording a provision with a charge to income when circumstances are warranted. When the circumstances previously causing the reserve cease to exist, or when there is clear evidence of an increase in the net realizable value due to a change in the economic circumstances or prices, the previous estimate is modified accordingly. Provisions on the Company's inventories are made based on a technical studies covering the different variables affecting finished products such as density and humidity, among other factors.

Raw materials, and supplies for production inventories are recorded at the lower of acquisition cost or market value. Acquisition cost is calculated according to the weighted average cost method.

3.6 Intangible assets

Intangible assets consist of goodwill, water rights, rights of ways related to electric lines, and computer software licenses.

(a) Goodwill

Goodwill represents the excess of the consideration transferred over the net fair value of assets acquired and liabilities assumed in the acquisition of subsidiaries.

For purposes of impairment testing, goodwill acquired in a business combination is allocated to each cash generating unit “CGU”, which is expected to benefit from the synergies of the combination. Each CGU to which goodwill is allocated represents the lowest level within the entity at which the goodwill is monitored for internal management purposes.

Goodwill impairment reviews are conducted annually, or more frequently if events or changes in circumstances indicate a potential for impairment. The carrying value of goodwill is compared to its recoverable amount, which is the higher of value in use and the fair valueless cost to sell. Any impairment is recognized immediately as an expense and is not subsequently reversed.

Water rights

Acquired water rights represent water from natural sources and are recorded at acquisition cost. Depending on the contractual terms, water rights can be granted on a perpetual basis or be subject to a fixed term. Water rights with a contractual fixed term are amortized over the life of the agreement. Water rights granted on a perpetual basis are not amortized; however, they are subject to an annual impairment assessment.

Right of way for electric lines

As required for the operation of industrial plants, the Company acquires rights of ways in order to install wires for electric lines on third party land. Amounts paid are capitalized and charged to income according to their contractual lives.

F-32

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012

(d) Computer software

Acquired computer software licenses are capitalized based on initial acquisition costs and costs incurred to prepare them for their intended use. These costs are amortized over their estimated useful lives.

Expenses related to internally developed IT programs are recognized when incurred. Costs directly attributable to the development of unique and identifiable IT programs are recognized as intangible assets to the extent such IT will generate future economic benefits. IT development costs are amortized over their estimated useful lives, which does generally not exceed three years.

3.7 Property, plant and equipment

Property, plant and equipment assets are stated at acquisition cost, net of accumulated depreciation, amortization and impairment losses that they might have experienced. Acquisition cost includes the following when applicable:

(a) Interest expense incurred during the construction period directly attributable to the acquisition, construction or production of qualifying assets, includes those that require a substantial period prior to being ready for their intended use. The interest rate used to capitalize interest corresponds to the project's specific financing or, should this not exist, the average borrowing rate of Company. Interest expenses are not capitalized for periods which exceed the normal term of acquisition, construction or installation of the asset, such as in the case of delays, interruptions, or temporary suspension of the project due to technical, financial, or other issues.

(b) Future costs the Company will incur related to the closure of its facilities at the end of their useful life are recorded at the present value of expected future disbursements required to settle the obligation.

Construction-in-progress is transferred to property, plant and equipment in operation once the assets are available for their intended use and the related depreciation and amortization begins on that date.

Extension, modernization or improvement costs that represent an increase in productive, capacity or efficiency, or an extension of the useful lives of property, plant and equipment are capitalized as a an increase in the cost of the related assets. All maintenance, preservation and repair expenses are charged to expense as incurred.

Property, plant and equipment components are depreciated using the straight-line method over estimated useful lives. When components of property, plant and equipment have different useful lives, these components are recorded and depreciated separately. The useful lives are reviewed annually and revised as necessary. The useful lives used for the depreciation and amortization of assets included in property, plant and equipment are presented below.

The Company classifies its financial liabilities under the following categories: at fair value through profit or loss, trade payables, interest-bearing loans, or derivatives designated as hedging instruments. Management determines the classification of its financial liabilities at the time of initial recognition.

Financial debt obligations are recorded at face value and as non-current when their maturity is greater than 12 months and as current when maturity is less than twelve months. Interest expenses is recognized in profit and loss when incurred.

Financial liabilities are derecognized when the obligation is repaid, settled or expires.

(a) Financial liabilities at fair value through profit or loss

Financial liabilities are classified at fair value when these are held for trading or designated in their initial recognition at fair value through profit or loss. This category includes derivative instruments not designated for hedge accounting.

(b) Trade payables

Trade payables are obligations to pay for goods or services that have been acquired in the ordinary course of business from suppliers. Trade payables are initially recognized at fair value and are subsequently stated at their amortized cost using the effective interest rate method.

(c) Interest-bearing loans

Loans are initially recognized at fair value and are subsequently stated at amortized cost using the effective interest rate method. Amortized cost is calculated considering any premium or discount from the acquisition and includes transaction costs which are an integral part of the effective interest rate.

3.10 Current and deferred taxes

Corporate income tax for the year is determined as the aggregate of current taxes from all of the consolidated companies. Current taxes are calculated on the basis of the tax laws enacted or substantively enacted as of the Statement of Financial Position in the countries where the Company and its subsidiaries operate and generate taxable income.

Deferred tax is recognized using the liability method on temporary differences arising between the tax basis for assets and liabilities and their carrying amounts in the consolidated financial statements. Deferred income taxes are calculated using the tax rates expected to be applicable when the assets are realized or the liabilities are settled.

In conformity with current Chilean tax regulations, the provision for corporate income tax and taxes on mining activity is recognized on an accrual basis, presenting the net balances of accumulated monthly tax provisional payments for the fiscal period and associated credits. The balances of these accounts are presented in current income taxes recoverable or current taxes payable, as applicable.

Tax on companies and variations in deferred tax assets or liabilities that are not the result of business combinations are recorded in statement of income accounts or equity accounts in the Consolidated Statement of Financial Position, considering the origin of the gains or losses which have generated them.

The carrying value of deferred tax assets has been reviewed and reduced to the extent there will not be sufficient taxable income to allow the recovery of all or a portion of the deferred tax assets. Likewise, deferred tax assets that are not recognized were evaluated and not recognized if it was not more likely than not, that future taxable income will not allow for recovery of the deferred tax asset.

With respect to deductible temporary differences associated with investments in subsidiaries, associated companies and interest in joint ventures, deferred tax assets are recognized solely provided that it is more likely than not that the temporary differences will be reversed in the near future and that there will be taxable income with which they may be used.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are offset if there is a legally enforceable right to offset tax assets against tax liabilities and the deferred tax is related to the same tax entity and authority, and there is intention to settle the balances on a net basis.

3.11 Obligations related to employee termination benefits and pension commitments

Obligations to the Company's employees are established in accordance with agreements in force and formalized through collective employment agreements and individual employment contracts. In the case of certain United States employees, benefit obligations are in accordance with a defined benefit pension plan, which was terminated in 2002. Liabilities for these obligations are recognized in the Statement of Financial Position using values established by actuarial calculations, which consider various assumptions including mortality rates, employee turnover, interest rates, retirement dates, future salary increases, and inflation.

Actuarial gains and losses and gains resulting from differences between the estimate and actual behavior of the actuarial assumptions are recorded in equity in other comprehensive in the period in which they arise.

Share based payments

The Company has a cash settled shared based payment plan whereby executives and senior management receive cash payments based on changes in the Company's share price over a vesting period. Changes in the fair value of the awards are recorded directly to profit and loss for the period.

The increase in the provision over time is recognized as a finance cost.

Revenue recognition

Note 4 – Financial risk management

4.1 Risk Management Policy

The Financial Risk Management Policy of the Company is oriented towards safeguarding the stability and sustainability of Sociedad Química y Minera de Chile S.A. and subsidiaries in relation to all such relevant financial uncertainty.

The operations of the Company are subject to certain financial risk factors that may affect the financial position results of operations or cash flow. Among these risks, the most relevant are market risk, liquidity risk, foreign exchange rate risk, bad debt risk, and interest rate risk.

There may be additional unknown risks or other known risks that might also affect the commercial operations, the business, the financial position or the results of the Company, but the Company believes at this time they are not significant.

The financial risk management structure includes identifying, determining, analyzing, quantifying, measuring and controlling these events. Management, in particular Finance Management, is responsible for constantly assessing the financial risk. The Company uses derivatives to hedge a significant portion of these risks.

4.2 Risk Factors

4.2.1 Market Risk

Market risks are those uncertainties associated with fluctuations of market variables that affect the assets and liabilities of the Company, such as:

- a) Country risk

The economic position of the countries where the Company has a presence may affect its financial position. For example, the sales carried out in emerging markets expose SQM to risks related to economic conditions and trends in those countries. On the other hand, inventories may also be affected by the economic situation of these countries and/or the global economy, amongst other probable economic impacts.

Price volatility risk

The prices of the products of the Company are affected by the fluctuations of international prices of fertilizers and chemical products and changes in productive capacities or market demand, all of which might affect the Company's business, financial condition and operational results.

F-39

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012

Note 4 – Financial Risk Management (Continued)

c) Commodities price risk

The Company is exposed to changes in the prices of raw materials and energy which may have an impact on its production costs, thus giving rise to instability in the results.

At present, the Company has direct annual expenses of approximately US$130 million related to oil related products, natural gas and equivalents, and approximately US$60 million for electricity. Variations of 10% in the prices of energy the Company requires to operate would involve in the short term movement of costs amounting to US$19 million.

4.2.2 Uncollectible Accounts Risks

A contraction of the global economy and the potentially negative effects in the financial position of the Company's clients may extend the accounts receivable collection time for SQM, increasing the Company bad debt exposure. While measures have been taken in order to minimize this risk, the global economy may trigger losses that might have a material adverse effect on the business, financial position or the results of the Company's operations.

To mitigate these risks, SQM actively controls debt collections and uses measures such as, credit insurance, letters of credit, and prepayments with regard to certain accounts receivable.

4.2.3 Foreign Exchange Risk

As a result of its influence in the determination of prices, its relationship with costs of sales, and since a significant part of our business is carried out in U.S. Dollars, the functional currency of SQM is the U.S. Dollar. However, the global business activities of the Company expose it to foreign exchange fluctuations of several currencies with respect to the U.S. Dollar. Therefore, SQM has derivative contracts to mitigate the exposure of its main balance mismatches (net assets) in currencies other than the U.S. Dollar against foreign exchange fluctuations. Those contracts are periodically updated depending upon the mismatch amount to be covered in these currencies.

A significant portion of the costs of the Company, particularly wages, is related to the Chilean Peso. Therefore, an increase or decrease in the exchange rate against the U.S. Dollar would affect the net income of SQM. At December 31, 2012, approximately US$440 million of the costs of the Company are related to the Chilean Peso. A significant portion of the effect of such obligations in the balance is covered derivatives that hedge the mismatch of balance in this currency.

At December 31, 2011, the Company had outstanding derivative instruments designated as hedging currency and interest rate risks associated with all Chilean Peso and UF denominated bond obligations, with a fair value of US$ 56.1 million. As of December 31, 2012, the fair value was US$100.6 million, in each case in favor of SQM.

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012

Note 4 – Financial Risk Management, Objectives and Policies (continued)

On December 31, 2012, the Chilean Peso to U.S. Dollar exchange rate was Ch$ 479.96 for US$ 1.00 and at December 31, 2011 it was Ch$ 519.20 for US$ 1.00.

4.2.4 Interest rate risk

Interest rate fluctuations, due to the uncertain future behavior of markets, may have a material impact on the financial results of the Company.

The Company has short and long term debts valued at LIBOR plus a spread. The Company is partially exposed to fluctuations of this rate, as SQM currently holds derivative instruments to hedge a portion of its liabilities subject to LIBOR rate fluctuations.

As of December 31, 2012, approximately 21% of the Company's current financial obligations were subject to LIBOR rate fluctuation and therefore, significant increases in the rate may impact its financial position. A 100 basis points variation in this rate may trigger variations in financial expenses of approximately US$3.1 million. Notwithstanding, this effect is significantly counter-balanced by the returns of the Company's investments that also relate to LIBOR.

In addition, as of December 31, 2012, the Company's total financial debt is primarily long-term, with 8% of maturities less than 12 months, which decreases the exposure to changes in the interest rates.

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012

Note 4 – Financial Risk Management, Objectives and Policies (continued)

4.2.5 Liquidity Risk

Liquidity risk relates to funding requirements to comply with payment obligations. The Company's objective is to keep financial flexibility by comfortably balancing funding requirements and cash flows from the regular business conduct, bank loans, public bonds, short term investments, and negotiable instruments, among others.

The Company has an important capital expense program which is subject to change over time.

On the other hand, world financial markets go through contraction and expansion periods that are not foreseeable in the long term and may affect SQM's access to financial resources. These factors may have a material adverse impact on the business, financial position, and operational results of the Company.

SQM constantly monitors that its obligations and investments match, taking care as part of its financial risk management strategy of the obligations and investments maturities from a conservative perspective. As of December 31, 2012, the Company had non-committed and available working capital bank credit lines for a total of US$530 million.

The position in other cash and cash equivalents generated by the Company is invested in highly liquid mutual funds which have an AAA risk rating.

4.3 Risk Measurement

The Company has methods to measure the effectiveness and efficiency of corporate risk strategies, both prospectively and retrospectively.

The Company uses cross currency swap derivative instruments to hedge the possible financial risk associated with the volatility of the exchange rate associated with Chilean Pesos and UF. The objective is to hedge the exchange rate financial risks associated with bonds payable. Hedges are documented and tested to measure their effectiveness.

Based on a comparison of critical terms, hedging is highly effective, given that the hedged amount is consistent with obligations maintained for bonds denominated in Chilean Pesos and UF. Likewise, hedging contracts are denominated in the same currencies and have the same expiration dates of bond principal and interest payments.

Hedge Accounting

The Company classifies derivative instruments as hedging that may include derivative or embedded derivatives either as fair value hedge derivative instruments, cash flow hedge derivative instruments, or hedge derivative instruments.

a) Fair value hedge

Changes in fair values of derivative instruments classified as fair value hedge derivative instruments are accounted for in gains and losses immediately along with any change in the fair value of the hedged item that is attributable to the risk being hedged.

The Company documents the relationship between hedge instruments and the hedged item along with the objectives of its risk management and strategy to carry out different hedging transactions. In addition, upon commencement of the period hedged and then on a quarterly basis the Company documents whether hedge instruments have been efficient and met the objective of hedging market fluctuations for the purpose of which we use the effectiveness test. A hedge instrument is deemed effective if the effectiveness test result is between 80% to 120%.

The hedge instruments are classified as effective or not effective on the basis of the effectiveness test results. This note includes the detail of fair values of derivatives classified as hedging instruments.

F-67

Notes to the consolidated financial statements as of December 31 2012Note 9 - Financial instruments (continued)*9.3 Hedging assets and liabilities, continued*b) Cash flow hedges

9.9 Estimated fair value of financial instruments and financial derivatives

Although inputs used to estimate the fair value of financial assets and liabilities represent Management's best estimate, they are subjective in nature and involve assumptions related to the current economic and market conditions, as well as underlying risk features. The methodologies and assumptions used to value each financial instrument depend on the risk profile and underlying characteristics of instrument as follows:

- Cash equivalent approximates fair value due to the short-term maturities of these instruments.
- Other current financial liabilities are considered at fair value equal to their carrying values.

Interest-bearing liabilities with original maturity of more than a year, fair values are calculated at discounting contractual cash flows at their original current market values with similar terms.

Forward and swap contracts fair value is determined using quoted market prices of financial instruments with similar characteristics.

Note 19 - Environment

19.1 Disclosures of disbursements related to the environment

The Company is concerned with protecting the environment both in its production processes and with respect to products manufactured. This commitment is supported by the principles indicated in the Company's Sustainable Development Policy. The Company is currently operating under an Environmental Management System (EMS) that has allowed it to strengthen its environmental performance through the effective application of the Company's Sustainable Development Policy.

Operations that use caliche as a raw material are carried out in desert areas with climatic conditions that are favorable for drying solids and evaporating liquids using solar energy. Operations involving the open-pit extraction of minerals, due to their low waste-to-mineral ratio, generate remaining deposits that slightly alter the environment. A portion of the ore extracted is crushed, a process in which the emission of particulates. Currently this operation is only conducted at the Company's Pedro de Valdivia operations.

Many of the Company's products are shipped in bulk at the Port of Tocopilla, Chile. In 2007, the city of Tocopilla was declared a zone saturated with MP10 particles mainly due to the emissions from electric power plants that operate in that city. In October 2010 the Decontamination Plan for Tocopilla was put in place. Accordingly, the Company has committed to taking several measures to mitigate the effects derived from bulk product movements in the port. These measures have been successfully implemented since 2007.

The Company carries out environmental monitoring plans based on specialized scientific studies, Within this context, the Company entered into a contract with the National Forestry Corporation (CONAF) aimed at researching the activities of flamingo groups that live in the Salar de Atacama lagoons. Such research includes a population count of the birds, as well as breeding research. Environmental monitoring activities carried out by the Company at the Salar de Atacama and other systems in which it operates are supported by a number of studies that have integrated diverse scientific efforts from prestigious research centers, including Dictuc from the Pontificia Universidad Católica in Santiago and the School of Agricultural Science of the Universidad de Chile.

Furthermore, within the framework of the environmental studies that the Company is conducting, the Company performs significant activities in relation to the recording of Pre-Columbian and historical cultural heritage, as well as the protection of heritage sites, in accordance with current Chilean laws. These activities have been specifically performed in the areas surrounding our Maria Elena and Nueva Victoria plants. This effort is being accompanied by cultural initiatives within the community and the organization of exhibits in local and regional museums.

As emphasized in its Sustainable Development Policy, the Company strives to maintain positive relationships with the communities surrounding the locations in which it carries out its operations, as well as to participate in communities' development by supporting joint projects and activities which help to improve the quality of life for residents. For this purpose, the Company has focused its efforts on activities involving the rescue of historical heritage, education and culture, as well as development, and in order to do so, it acts both individually and in conjunction with private and public entities.

Assets for the exploration or evaluation of mineral resources are amortized to the extent that the explored or evaluated area has been exploited. Amortization is based on a variable rate applied to extracted tons determined through measured mineral reserves and exploration costs. Capitalized expenses under current development are reclassified to inventory and are amortized according to the estimated ore reserves. Expenses associated with future economically producible reserves are presented under Other non-current assets. Those expenses incurred on properties with an ore grade that is not economical are directly charged to profit and loss. Amounts associated with the exploration and assessment of mineral resources presented under inventory are ThUS$6,174 and ThUS$3,699 as of December 31, 2012 and 2011, respectively.

The FUT is a chronological registry where the profits generated and distributed by the Company are recorded. The object of the FUT is to control the accumulated tax profits of the Company that may be distributed, withdrawn or (1) remitted to the owners, shareholders or partners, and the final taxes that must be imposed, thereon called in Chile Global Aggregate Tax (that is levied on persons resident or domiciled in Chile), or Withholding Tax (that is levied on non resident persons).

The FUT Register contains profits with credit rights and profits without credit rights, which arise out of the inclusion of the net taxable income determined by the Company or the profits received by the Company that may be dividends received or withdrawals made during the period. Profits without credit rights represent tax payable by the Company within the year and filed the following year, therefore they will be deducted from the FUT Registry the following year. Profits with credit rights may be used to reduce the final tax burden of owners, shareholders or partners, which upon withdrawal are entitled to use the credits associated with the relevant profits. In summary, companies using the FUT Registry to maintain control over their profits that have not been distributed to the owners and the relevant credits associated with such profits.

23.4 Income tax and deferred taxes

Assets and liabilities recognized in the Statement of Financial Position are offset if and only if:

¹ The Company has legally recognized before the tax authority the right to offset the amounts recognized in these entries; and

² Deferred income tax assets and liabilities are derived from income tax related to the same tax authority on the same entity or tax subject; or different entities or tax subjects who intend either to settle current fiscal assets and liabilities for their net amount, or to realize assets and pay liabilities simultaneously in each of the future periods in which the Company expects to settle or recover significant amounts of deferred tax assets or liabilities.

Deferred income tax assets recognized are those income taxes to be recovered in future periods, related to:

(a) deductible temporary differences;

(b) the offset of losses obtained in prior periods and not yet subject to tax deduction; and

(c) the offset of unused credits from prior periods.

The Company recognizes a deferred tax asset when there is certainty that these can be offset with tax income from subsequent periods, losses or fiscal credits not yet used, but solely as long as it is more likely than not that there will be tax earnings in the future against which to charge to these losses or unused fiscal credits.
