Enclosures: New City Licence in China

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

30 January 2006

Prudential announces new city licence for Jinan in Eastern China.

Prudential's life insurance joint venture in China, CITIC Prudential Life, has been awarded a life insurance licence for the capital city of Jinan in Shandong Province, north-east China. The licence is Prudential's first in Shandong and brings Prudential's total city licences in China to eleven.

Edgar Filing: PRUDENTIAL PLC - Form 6-K

Jinan is the capital city of Shandong and is the province's political and economic centre. The city reflects the compelling demographics of China and the opportunity that the region presents. Jinan has a population of 5.9 million, a GDP which increased 16% in the last year and a low insurance product penetration rate. The Jinan branch is expected to be operational by the end of the second quarter of 2006.

Mark Norbom, Chief Executive, Prudential Corporation Asia said:

"We are very excited about the Jinan licence because it means entry into a new province, Shandong, which has a population of 92 million people. It will also complement our successful operations in nearby Beijing, Jiangsu and Shanghai."

CITIC Prudential is committed to continuing its expansion in China and helping to meet the life insurance needs of the Chinese people.
