30 July 2008

Dear Rio Tinto Shareholder,

As Chairman of BHP Billiton I wanted to write to you personally to introduce myself and talk to you about our offer for Rio Tinto. Given the expected length of the timetable for the transaction, I wanted also to provide you with an update on its progress.

I strongly believe that, together, BHP Billiton and Rio Tinto can generate substantial additional value for shareholders.

The combination of Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton would be without comparison in the resources industry in terms of strategy, asset mix and quality, as well as culture.

Both BHP Billiton and Rio Tinto have world-leading portfolios of large-scale, low-cost, long-life assets that are highly complementary.

In many cases, assets are either jointly owned, neighbouring or close by. This unique overlap offers substantial opportunities to save money and add value through managing the assets as one collective group under single ownership.

BHP Billiton's offer for Rio Tinto

BHP Billiton's all-share offer, which was announced on 6 February, 2008, will provide Rio Tinto shareholders with:

A 45 per cent premium, which is equivalent to a premium of A$46.45 per share for Rio Tinto Limited shareholders and £19.72 per share for Rio Tinto plc shareholders¹. This is a substantial premium by any measure and one that is reflected in the large increase in the market price for Rio Tinto shares relative to BHP Billiton shares since our proposal became public last November. Without the benefit of our offer, I strongly believe that Rio Tinto shares would be trading very differently; and

The opportunity to become shareholders in the combined company, with its strengthened asset portfolio, enhanced growth potential, expected synergies and other benefits that will flow from the combination.

The all-share consideration means that the offer is about relative value, not absolute value. As shareholders in the merged group, you will be beneficiaries of strong demand, tight supply and high commodity prices.

I know that many tens of thousands of the shareholders in Rio Tinto also hold shares in BHP Billiton. Whether you are a shareholder in Rio Tinto, BHP Billiton or both companies, we believe the proposed transaction makes enormous sense.

Transaction update

Over the last two months we have made all the regulatory filings to the competition authorities whose approval is required to satisfy the pre-conditions to our offer.

As had been expected, in early July the European Commission announced that it has now opened a detailed Phase 2 review of the potential combination of Rio Tinto and BHP Billiton. We will continue to cooperate with the Commission in their review. We believe that the cost savings, expanded growth options and speed-to-market benefits would provide material benefits for customers.

In addition, we were very pleased in early July to receive notice of early termination of the Hart-Scott-Rodino waiting period and completion of the U.S. Department of Justice merger review. This satisfied part of the global merger control pre-conditions.

We expect that the various regulatory processes will be completed by the end of 2008, after which we should be in a position to send the offer documents to you.

If you are also a BHP Billiton shareholder you will also receive a notice of an extraordinary general meeting that will provide details of when BHP Billiton shareholders will have the opportunity to vote to approve the offer.

Additional materials

I also wanted to take this opportunity to introduce our company to those Rio Tinto shareholders who do not own shares in BHP Billiton. You will find enclosed with this letter a brief description of our business.

If you would like more information on BHP Billiton or the offer, please go to our website at www.bhpbilliton.com

I will continue to update you on the offer as it proceeds.

Thank you for taking the time to read this letter.

Yours faithfully,

Don Argus

Chairman
