PRIVATE AND CONFIDENTIAL

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

Focused approach with heavy emphasis on unlocking the value of the NOL s

Opportunistically considers acquisitions of strong operating businesses that will be accretive to earnings for Signature

NABCO is a great business, is evidence of our strategy being successfully implemented and has brought the Company closer to profitability

Takes advantage of relationships with multiple investment banking firms as well as connections that have been established with management over the last 20 years

Large acquisitions have been and continue to be evaluated, such initiatives are precisely why an increase in authorized shares is being sought by the Company

The infrastructure to manage a diverse platform of companies with our criteria requires only minimal resources at the corporate headquarters

3

Signature s Plan

McIntyre's So Called Plan

McIntyre has not provided a detailed comprehensive plan to the stockholders

His plan is filled with hopes and promises but lacks comprehension

An unnamed interim CEO, coupled with a recruiting project to find a long term candidate, and uncertain economic terms or conditions that could be demanded, will likely result in corporate instability and uncertainty for stockholders

Lack of senior level or executive management brings additional uncertainty to the organization

Legacy matters don't just go away with a new management team

Exclusive relationship with an investment
bank is not in the best interest
of
the
stockholders

Mr. Peiser proposed a similar strategy while serving as a director, management and a majority of the Board thought it was costly, limiting, and unnecessary

Would
have required
the Company
to pay a $250,000
engagement
fee that would not be applied against the substantial success fees contemplated in the contract

Investment bankers interests are not necessarily aligned with Company and stockholder interests

4

Urgency
as stated by McIntyre, while sourcing of a large transaction often times leads to overpaying and settling

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

Net Operating Loss Carryforward

The Company's business strategy heavily emphasizes and contemplates the utilization of this asset

The federal NOL's have a 20 year life, they do not deteriorate over time

5

This
claim
is disingenuous on McIntyre's
part and his plan

would not receive a different accounting treatment

The disclosures in the Company's 10K and 10Qs are required by our public accounting firm and serve to protect the Company

Contrary to McIntyre's assertions, the valuation allowance established against the NOLs in the Company's

financial statements

is based on required
accounting treatment

under GAAP

and
is
not

a function of the business plan

The Company has and will continue to aggressively protect the asset to ensure maximum utilization

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

The resignations of Blitzer and Peiser were positive for the Company as their presence on the board was disruptive

McIntyre previously recommended our nominee Ed Lamb as an independent director, he was brought on in 2011 and now serves as Chairman of the Audit Committee

Mr.
Lamb
successfully oversaw
the completion
nine SEC
filings
during his tenure as Audit Committee Chairman in a thirteen month period and abandoned the use of external counsel Mr. Tinkler is the epitome of an independent director

He is an executive of a firm that is a 4.9% stockholder in the Company

Maintains extensive expertise in companies with unique tax attributes and significant legacy challenges

He has no affiliation with Signature management

The current board set their personal financial interests aside to put forth the best slate possible for stockholders

6

The Board of Directors

SETTING THE RECORD STRAIGHT

The 2007 rights agreement established while McIntyre was Chairman is appropriate and serves to protect the NOL s and stockholders

The potential usage of the rights agreement was not a threat as indicated by McIntyre, it was a response to his formation

a group
with Kingstown
Capital
that
the Board believed could jeopardize
the

and needed time to examine

The litigation associated with the rights agreement was initiated by McIntyre and Kingstown; the Company is a defendant seeking to protect the NOL s

Contrary to McIntyre s assertion, former President, Ken Grossman, is not the beneficial owner of 5% of the stock under Section 382 of the IRS Code or for the SEC s Schedule 13D (Required Notification for 5% Stockholders)

The Company has operated appropriately, with strong corporate governance and within the confines of the SEC while it was bringing itself current with its filings, we are now able to hold annual meetings and have quarterly earnings calls

Mr. McIntyre s assertions regarding the Company s Governance are inaccurate

The Company has previously published accurate information regarding Governance

7

Stockholder Rights Agreement

Corporate Governance

McIntyre Nominee and Former Director, Robert Peiser

In 2010 as a Director, Peiser earned more than the Company's CEO

Compensation

Mr. McIntyre continues to make erroneous assertions regarding managements overall compensation

We have previously published accurate information regarding compensation

8

Peiser advocated and voted for Director compensation packages that he now opposes as a participant in the McIntyre Slate

Mr. Peiser requested and received $35,000 in supplemental Audit Committee Chairman fee and then proced to outsource a significant portion of his decision making responsibilities to an external counsel costing the Company in excess of $200,000

Mr. McIntyre has made no reference in his filings relating to the compensation levels he would pay a new management team
