PART III NARRATIVE

State below in reasonable detail why Forms 10-K, 20-F, 11-K, 10-Q, 10-D, N-SAR, N-CSR, or the transition report or portion thereof, could not be filed within the prescribed time period.

The Company was unable to file its Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q for the quarter ended September 30, 2012 (the Affected Form 10-Q) by the prescribed due date (November 9, 2012) as a result of the effects of Hurricane Sandy. The Company's headquarters is located in New York City. In anticipation of the Hurricane's arrival, New York area public transportation systems were shutdown starting on Sunday, October 28, 2012 and remained either shutdown completely or with only limited service for much of the entire week of October 28, 2012, which made it impossible or exceedingly difficult for employees to travel to the Company's offices. Moreover, the Company determined that it would not be safe for its employees to travel to the Company's headquarters in advance of the arrival of Hurricane Sandy. After the Hurricane, although some of the Company's personnel were able to return to their offices, the Company's telephone and computer systems remained inoperable for a few days following the storm. In addition, certain employees of the Company and its outside auditors who are critical to the preparation and/or review of the financial statements required to be included in the Affected Form 10-Q (the Affected Financial Statements) were personally affected by the Hurricane such that they were unable to work on the Affected Financial Statements for a number of days following the storm. Certain of the individuals who prepare the Affected Financial Statements remain affected by the storm, thus inhibiting their ability to devote the substantial amount of time necessary to complete the Affected Financial Statements. As a result of the foregoing, the Company requires additional time to complete the Affected Form 10-Q.
