business

In addition to not adjusting for Fx, divestitures, or discontinuations, it is not clear which numbers Allergan is using for organic growth calculations

Allergan's September 29

th presentation is an attempt to distance itself from repeated negative statements about their expectation for Valeant's Q3 business performance. As was stated in the September 24

th

letter to Mr. Pyott and Mr.

Gallagher from J. Michael Pearson:

On multiple occasions, you have said that Valeant's growth is unsustainable and that Valeant's 3Q14 results will reveal further weakness of true organic growth.

You have also questioned whether Bausch + Lomb growth rates would continue in the third quarter.

We welcome the opportunity to sit down with Allergan management to review our financial results and future outlook

Allergan is once again attempting to move the goal posts

now that Valeant has disclosed Q3 expectations that disprove Allergan's previous statements
