The Report to Shareholders is attached herewith.

FLAHERTY & CRUMRINE PREFERRED INCOME FUND

To the Shareholders of Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Fund (PFD):

The second fiscal quarter¹ brought with it a few headwinds, but your Fund still earned a respectable 0.7% total return on net asset value² (NAV) during the period. For the first half of the fiscal year, total return on NAV was 3.1%. Total return on market price of Fund shares over the same periods were -0.6% and 6.2%, respectively.

The table below shows Fund returns over various measurement periods, and they continue to be very good. The table includes performance of two indices, Barclays U.S. Aggregate and S&P 500, as proxies for bond and stock markets, respectively. While neither is a benchmark for Fund performance, they provide context for returns on broad asset categories.

TOTAL RETURN ON NET ASSET VALUEFOR PERIODS ENDED MAY 31, 2015

(1) Since inception on January 31, 1991.

(2) The Barclays U.S. Aggregate Index is an unmanaged index considered representative of the U.S. investment grade, fixed-rate bond market.

(3) The S&P 500 is a capitalization-weighted index of 500 common stocks. The index is designed to measure performance of the broad domestic economy through changes in the aggregate market value of 500 stocks representing all major industries.

Current performance may be lower or higher than the quoted past performance, which cannot guarantee future results. In addition, NAV performance will vary from market price performance, and you may have a taxable gain or loss when you sell your shares.

The economy continues to show signs of recovery, even if it has been two-steps-forward, one-step-back over the last year. The slowdown experienced this winter appears to have been temporary, with more recent economic data showing some improvement. With this data comes more speculation about when the Federal Reserve may begin to raise short-term interest rates. Intermediate and long-term interest rates moved higher during the quarter, largely because the time to an initial rate hike is compressing. As we have mentioned before, we currently expect short-term rate increases by the Federal Reserve to be gradual. Increases in intermediate and long-term rates should be on a similar but more muted path, edging up over time on stronger U.S. growth and less accommodative monetary policy, but restrained by low interest rates around the globe.

² Following the methodology required by the Securities Exchange Commission, total return assumes dividend reinvestment and includes income and principal change, plus the impact of the Fund's leverage and expenses.

Higher rates during the quarter were a headwind for most fixed-income markets, with the 30-year Treasury rising from 2.59% to 2.88% during the quarter; it is up another 25 basis points (bp) since quarter-end. Total returns on longer-duration fixed-income benchmarks, such as Barclays Long U.S. Corporate at -4.06%, and intermediate-duration benchmarks, such as Barclays U.S. Corporate at -1.03%, were generally negative during the quarter.

Conditions in the preferred market remain generally positive. Secondary market liquidity has trailed off recently, but patience is often rewarded (we have plenty!). Supply of new preferred securities has continued apace so far this year, with most issuance in the form of traditional preferred securities from U.S. issuers and contingent capital securities (CoCos) from foreign issuers. Overall, supply was well received and deals performed positively after initial pricing. At the margin, supply has kept spreads on preferred securities a bit wider than they might otherwise have been. Many issuers are reaching capacity in their buckets of preferred capital, so supply should remain manageable, if not below average, over the next year.

As we have discussed in previous letters, over 60% of the preferred market now is comprised of fixed-to-float or floating-rate securities. Ten years ago, this type of security made up less than 10% of the market. Without repeating full past discussions, it is notable that these securities have lower interest-rate durations than most fixed-for-life securities. All things being equal, these securities will not fall in price as much as fixed-for-life securities would when interest rates rise. Investors should be aware that fixed-to-float securities are not all fashioned from the same mold, a subject we expand on in the discussion topics that follow. Preferred investors can still find longer-duration securities in the preferred market. However, today's broader range of securities provides a way for us to manage interest-rate exposure in the Fund's portfolio without using more costly (in today's market) hedging strategies.

Preferred securities continue to offer higher yields than most other fixed-income securities, and yield has been very difficult to find in recent years without also adding unwanted risks. This yield cushion is important, as it allows for partial absorption of higher long-term interest rates. This is not to say that preferred-security price returns will remain positive despite higher long-term rates, but rather income earned on preferred securities will help to dampen the negative impact of higher long-term rates, and provide positive (or less negative) total returns to investors when compared to other fixed-income markets. Long-time shareholders will know the path to higher rates can be bumpy for all markets over short periods of time.

We close this letter by acknowledging the retirement of a long-time portfolio manager of the Fund, Robert Ettinger. Bob retired as a portfolio manager and from Flaherty & Crumrine as of June 30, 2015. You shouldn't expect to notice much change in the way your Fund is managed. Transition planning has always been a top priority of the firm. Moreover, the culture of the firm which Bob was instrumental in shaping runs deep. And, given his investment in the Fund, you can bet he won't let us stray from the things which have made the Fund and its sister funds among the top performing preferred funds in the market. We thank Bob for his 30 years of service and lasting contributions, and we wish him all the best in retirement.

In the discussion topics that follow, we dig deeper into subjects mentioned here as well as others of interest to shareholders. In addition, we encourage you to visit the Fund's website www.preferredincome.com for timely and important information.

Sincerely,

The Flaherty & Crumrine Portfolio Management Team:

DISCUSSION TOPICS

The Fund's Portfolio Results and Components of Total Return on NAV

The table below reflects performance over the recent six months of each element comprising total return for the Fund, namely: (a) investing in a portfolio of securities and (b) utilizing leverage to enhance returns to shareholders. Next, we compute the impact of the Fund's operating expenses. All parts are summed to determine total return on NAV.

Components of PFD's Total Return on NAV

for the Six Months Ended May 31, 2015¹

Total Return on Unleveraged Securities Portfolio (including principal change and income)	2.8%
Impact of Leverage (including leverage expense)	1.0%
Expenses (excluding leverage expense)	-0.7%
	Total Return on NAV 3.1%

For comparison, the BofA Merrill Lynch 8% Constrained Core West Preferred & Jr Subordinated Securities IndexSM (P8JC)² returned 3.4% for the six months ended May 31, 2015. This index reflects the various segments of the preferred securities market constituting the Fund's primary focus. Because this index return excludes all expenses and the impact of leverage, it compares most directly to the top line in the Fund's performance table above (Total Return on Unleveraged Securities Portfolio).

Over the past six-months, the return on the Fund's (unleveraged) securities portfolio trailed this comparative index. Although the Fund's total return on NAV exceeded the return on its securities portfolio during this period, it also trailed the return on the index despite the Fund's use of leverage. While the Fund's leverage enhanced price returns during the past six-months and its low cost helped offset the Fund's expenses and increased income available to be distributed by the Fund, its impact was insufficient to match the return on the index.

Total Return on Market Price of Fund Shares

While our focus is primarily on managing the Fund's investment portfolio, our shareholders' actual return is comprised of the Fund's monthly dividend payments plus changes in the market price of Fund shares. During the six-month period ending May 31, 2015, total return on market price of Fund shares was 6.2%.

² The BofA Merrill Lynch 8% Constrained Core West Preferred & Jr Subordinated Securities IndexSM (P8JC) includes U.S. dollar-denominated investment-grade or below investment-grade, fixed rate, floating rate or fixed-to-floating rate, retail or institutionally structured preferred securities of U.S. and foreign issuers with issuer concentration capped at 8%. All index returns include interest and dividend income, and, unlike the Fund's returns, are unmanaged and do not reflect any expenses.

Preferred-security valuations, including both the Fund's NAV and the market price of its shares, can move dramatically when there is volatility in financial markets. The chart below illustrates this volatility in both NAV and market price performance.

In a more perfect world, the market price of Fund shares and its NAV, as shown in the above chart, would track more closely. If so, any premium or discount calculated as the difference between these two inputs and expressed as a percentage, would remain relatively close to zero. However, as can be seen in the chart on page 5, this often has not been the case.

Although divergence between NAV and market price of a closed-end fund is generally driven by supply/demand imbalances affecting its market price, we can only speculate about why the relationship between the Fund's market price and NAV hasn't been closer.

Based on a closing price of $13.58 on June 30th, the current annualized yield on market price of Fund shares, assuming its current monthly distribution of $0.09 does not change, is 7.95%. In our opinion, this distribution rate measures up favorably with most comparable fixed-income investment opportunities.

Economic and Interest Rate Recap and Outlook

Inflation-adjusted U.S. gross domestic product (real GDP) contracted 0.2% in the first calendar quarter of 2015 and appears to have rebounded only modestly, about 2.5%, in the second quarter. Consumer spending slowed. Business investment fell, partly due to adverse winter weather and supply chain disruptions from West Coast port strikes, but also in response to sluggish economic conditions at home and abroad. Industrial production, led by declines in mining (including oil and gas) output, was flat or down in each of the first five months of 2015. A wider trade deficit also weighed heavily on Q1 real GDP growth; while we currently expect second-quarter results to be better, we believe trade will remain a significant headwind to U.S. growth in 2015.

There were a few economic bright spots, however. Real residential investment grew 6.5% in the first quarter, and continued gains in home sales in April and May suggest second quarter results will also be good. Personal income growth picked up on the back of steady job gains and somewhat higher wages, which should lead to stronger consumer spending over coming quarters. With budget constraints gradually easing, government spending should also turn up in Q2 after dropping slightly earlier in the year. Inflation remains very low but should edge upward over the balance of 2015, as a disinflationary impulse from sharply lower energy prices in 2014's second half wanes.

We are still optimistic that U.S. real GDP growth, which has averaged just 2.2% since recession ended in June 2009, will accelerate to 2.5-3% over the balance of 2015. However, given contraction in the first quarter, growth for all of 2015 probably will be closer to 2% than our earlier 2.5-3% forecast.

Global economic growth in the first quarter of 2015 was similarly tepid. European real GDP growth came in a bit better than expected but was up just 1.0% from a year earlier. Growth resumed in Japan in Q1 but remained down 0.9% from a year ago. China's growth continued to slow. Monetary policy eased in each of those regions. The European Central Bank and Bank of Japan are engaged in large-scale quantitative easing, while China is cutting short-term rates, adding liquidity to its banking system and encouraging more lending. Although off their lows, interest rates globally remain very low.

Slower-than-forecast U.S. economic growth persuaded the Federal Reserve to leave the federal funds rate unchanged through June. If growth reaccelerates over coming months, as we expect, the Federal Open Market Committee (FOMC) probably will decide to initiate a gradual series of rate hikes in September. If summer growth remains sluggish, however, the FOMC could wait until December or even into 2016 before raising rates. Whenever rate hikes begin, the Fed will move slowly, knowing that it likely will be the only major central bank raising rates. We anticipate rate hikes of 25 bp per quarter for 6-8 quarters, with less frequent moves thereafter, eventually bringing the fed funds rate to 3-3.5%. That's about half as fast as prior tightening cycles, with a lower peak.

With the FOMC edging closer to removing monetary accommodation, interest rates rose during the Fund's fiscal second quarter back to about where they began the fiscal year. The thirty-year Treasury bond yield rose by 29 bp to 2.88% from February 28 to May 31, 2015, while the 10-year yield rose by 13 bp to 2.12%. Both rates are about 25 bp higher through the end of June. Markets are currently pricing in most but not all of the tightening we anticipate. Long-term rates are likely to move modestly higher over the next several years if our forecasts prove accurate, although we expect them to remain well below levels that we normally would associate with 2.5-3% real GDP growth.

Although interest rates are likely to move higher over time, we think yield spreads on preferred securities have room to narrow. Credit conditions continue to improve. Loan defaults and delinquencies are still edging lower. Balance sheets are generally strong, particularly at U.S. banks. Household debt service is low and wealth is rising. Corporate profits are growing moderately, and borrowing, while rising, is manageable. We believe stronger credit fundamentals should drive yield spreads on preferred securities narrower over time, which should partially offset higher yields on Treasuries.

Preferred Market Fixed-to-Float Securities

We have written frequently about fixed-to-float securities (which constitute 54.0% of the Fund's portfolio), but here we will expand on our comment in the letter that fixed-to-float securities are not all fashioned from the same mold. Because these securities have coupons that adjust with short-term rates after an initial fixed-rate coupon period (typically 5 or 10 years), they initially have interest-rate sensitivity similar to 5- or 10-year corporate bonds—stated another way, they have similar durations. During the initial fixed-rate period, the price of the security will adjust in response to both (a) changes in intermediate and longer-term interest rates and (b) changes in the market's assessment of the credit risk of the security (or the credit spread). After the security's coupon begins to float, its duration becomes essentially zero and changes in longer-term interest rates no longer have much impact on price. The security's floating-rate coupon is based on the level of short-term interest rates (typically 3-month LIBOR) and a back-end reset spread. This back-end spread is determined at the time of issuance (typically initial fixed coupon less the comparable swap rate) and will generally remain constant over the life of the security's floating-rate period (which may be perpetual).

This entire market segment has attracted more scrutiny from investors as it has grown in significance, and investors are taking a closer look at older-vintage (pre-2008) securities that are within one to three years of their first adjustment dates. There are a number of securities with low back-end spreads that may remain outstanding into their floating-rate periods. Bear in mind that, with this structure, issuers generally have the option to redeem securities at par or to extend them as floating-rate instruments. When call dates were beyond a two- or three-year horizon, investors focused on current yields (based on initial, usually higher, fixed-rate coupons) and were less discerning about back-end spreads. Now that many of these bonds are approaching their adjustment dates and interest rates have remained low, attention has turned to the risk many will actually extend and convert into floating-rate securities with much lower yields (compared to their initial coupons). This increased awareness has put noticeable pressure on valuations of this specific segment, as investors anticipate extension risk.

Fortunately, it is not all bad news for securities approaching their adjustment periods. A security with essentially zero duration due to a coupon that will adjust higher as short-term rates increase may be just what many investors want. However, the price of a fixed-to-float security needs to adjust such that its yield is representative of an issuer's current credit spread, which generally is wider today than it was pre-2008 and results in prices well below par for certain securities. This has been a necessary adjustment in the market, as certain investors really hadn't contemplated that these securities would extend and actually become floating-rate instruments. Once pricing adjusts to reflect current credit spreads, these securities may look attractive. Given reduced interest-rate risk when a security begins to float, investors should be willing to accept a lower yield but still one that compensates for credit risk in today's market. Further, back-end spreads on these older-vintage securities vary significantly, so there are many ways to layer these into a portfolio.

Even as some fixed-to-float securities became less desirable to investors, demand for new issues with this structure has been strong. In fact, in the institutional market this year, domestic banks have issued $15.9 billion in fixed-to-float hybrids, compared to no issuance of fixed-for-life preferreds. Given the current interest-rate curve, however, back-end spreads on new issues are much wider than many older securities. All else equal, more back-end spread is preferable to less, as it provides additional compensation to investors for a given level of credit risk.

We know this probably sounds complicated, but to us it is yet another fascinating feature of the preferred market. The other side of risk is often opportunity, and we view structural features embedded in preferreds as a source of opportunity and a way for us to add value over time. It is also a reminder of why you have chosen to use a fund such as PFD to gain exposure to this market, one which requires a diligent and analytical approach and active participation.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS (Unaudited)

1. Organization

Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Fund Incorporated (the Fund) was incorporated as a Maryland corporation on September 28, 1990, and commenced operations on January 31, 1991 as a diversified, closed-end management investment company under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the 1940 Act). The Fund's investment objective is to provide its common shareholders with high current income consistent with the preservation of capital.

2. Significant Accounting Policies

The following is a summary of significant accounting policies consistently followed by the Fund in the preparation of its financial statements. The preparation of the financial statements is in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (U.S. GAAP) and requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities in the financial statements and the reported amounts of increases and decreases in net assets from operations during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Portfolio valuation: The net asset value of the Fund's Common Stock is determined by the Fund's Administrator no less frequently than on the last business day of each week and month in accordance with the policies and procedures approved by the Board of Directors of the Fund. It is determined by dividing the value of the Fund's net assets available to Common Stock by the number of shares of Common Stock outstanding. The value of the Fund's net assets available to Common Stock is deemed to equal the value of the Fund's total assets less (i) the Fund's liabilities and (ii) the aggregate liquidation value of any outstanding preferred stock.

The Fund's preferred and debt securities are valued on the basis of current market quotations provided by independent pricing services or dealers approved by the Board of Directors of the Fund. Each quotation is based on the mean of the bid and asked prices of a security. In determining the value of a particular preferred or debt security, a pricing service or dealer may use information with respect to transactions in such investments, quotations, market transactions in comparable investments, various relationships observed in the market between investments, and/or calculated yield measures based on valuation technology commonly employed in the market for such investments. Common stocks that are traded on stock exchanges are valued at the last sale price or official close price on the exchange, as of the close of business on the day the securities are being valued or, lacking any sales, at the last available mean price. Futures contracts and option contracts on futures contracts are valued on the basis of the settlement price for such contracts on the primary exchange on which they trade. Investments in over-the-counter derivative instruments, such as interest rate swaps and options thereon (swaptions), are valued using prices supplied by a pricing service, or if such prices are unavailable, prices provided by a single broker or dealer that is not the counterparty or, if no such prices are available, at a price at which the counterparty to the contract would repurchase the instrument or terminate the contract. Investments for which market quotations are not readily available or for which management determines that the prices are not reflective of current market conditions are valued at fair value as determined in good faith by or under the direction of the Board of Directors of the Fund, including reference to valuations of other securities which are comparable in quality, maturity and type.

Investments in money market instruments and all debt and preferred securities which mature in 60 days or less are valued at amortized cost. Investments in money market funds are valued at the net asset value of such funds.

Fair Value Measurements: The Fund has analyzed all existing investments to determine the significance and character of all inputs to their fair value determination. The levels of fair value inputs used to measure the Fund's investments are characterized into a fair value hierarchy. Where inputs for an asset or liability fall into more than one level in the fair value hierarchy, the investment is classified in its entirety based on the lowest level input that is significant to that investment's valuation. The three levels of the fair value hierarchy are described below:

Level 1 quoted prices in active markets for identical securities

Level 2 other significant observable inputs (including quoted prices for similar securities, interest rates, prepayment speeds, credit risk, etc.)

Level 3 significant unobservable inputs (including the Fund's own assumptions in determining the fair value of investments)

The inputs or methodology used for valuing securities are not necessarily an indication of the risk associated with investing in those securities. Transfers in and out of levels are recognized at market value at the end of the period.

A summary of the inputs used to value the Fund's investments as of May 31, 2015 is as follows:

	Total Value at May 31, 2015	Level 1 Quoted Price	Level 2 Significant Observable Inputs	Level 3 Significant Unobservable Inputs

During the reporting period, securities with an aggregate market value of $8,057,812 were transferred into Level 2 from Level 1. The securities were transferred due to a decrease in the quantity and quality of the information related to trading activity or broker quotes for these securities. During the reporting period, there were no transfers into Level 1 from Level 2.

The fair values of the Fund's investments are generally based on market information and quotes received from brokers or independent pricing services that are approved by the Board of Directors and are unaffiliated with the Adviser. To assess the continuing appropriateness of security valuations, management, in consultation with the Adviser, regularly compares current prices to prior prices, prices across comparable securities, actual sale prices for securities in the Fund's portfolio, and market information obtained by the Adviser as a function of being an active market participant.

Securities with quotes that are based on actual trades or actionable bids and offers with a sufficient level of activity on or near the measurement date are classified as Level 1. Securities that are priced using quotes derived from implied values, indicative bids and offers, or a limited number of actual trades or the same information for securities that are similar in many respects to those being valued are classified as Level 2. If market information is not available for securities being valued, or materially-comparable securities, then those securities are classified as Level 3. In considering market information, management evaluates changes in liquidity, willingness of a broker to execute at the quoted price, the depth and consistency of prices from pricing services, and the existence of observable trades in the market.

The following is a reconciliation of Level 3 investments for which significant unobservable inputs were used to determine fair value:

	Total Investments	Preferred Securities Banking
Balance as of 11/30/14	$ 7,815	$ 7,815
Accrued discounts/premiums
Realized gain/(loss)
Change in unrealized appreciation/(depreciation)
Purchases
Sales
Transfer in Transfer out
Balance as of 05/31/15	$ 7,815	$ 7,815

For the six months ended May 31, 2015, total change in unrealized gain/(loss) on Level 3 securities still held at period-end and included in the change in net assets was $0. Total unrealized gain/(loss) for all securities (including Level 1 and Level 2) can be found on the accompanying Statement of Operations.

The following table summarizes the valuation techniques used and unobservable inputs developed to determine the fair value of Level 3 investments:

Category	Fair Value
	at 05/31/15	Valuation Technique	Unobservable Input	Input Range (Wgt Avg)
Preferred Securities
Banking	$ 7,815	Bankruptcy recovery	Credit/Structure-specific recovery	0.00% - 0.50% (0.15%)

Flaherty & Crumrine Preferred Income Fund Incorporated

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement technique for bankruptcy recovery are based on recovery analysis that is specific to the security being valued, including the level of subordination and structural features of the security, and the current status of any bankruptcy or liquidation proceedings. Observable market trades in bankruptcy claims are utilized by management, when available, to assess the appropriateness of valuations, although the frequency of trading depends on the specific credit and seniority of the claim. Expected recoveries in bankruptcy by security type and industry do not tend to deviate much from historical recovery rates, which are very low (sometimes zero) for preferred securities and more moderate for senior debt. Significant changes in these inputs would result in a significantly higher or lower fair value measurement.

Securities transactions and investment income: Securities transactions are recorded as of the trade date. Realized gains and losses from securities sold are recorded on the specific identified cost basis. Dividend income is recorded on ex-dividend dates. Interest income is recorded on the accrual basis. The Fund also amortizes premiums and accretes discounts on fixed income securities using the effective yield method.

Options: Purchases of options are recorded as an investment, the value of which is marked-to-market at each valuation date. When the Fund enters into a closing sale transaction, the Fund will record a gain or loss depending on the difference between the purchase and sale price.

When the Fund writes an option, an amount equal to the premium received by the Fund is recorded as a liability, the value of which is marked-to-market at each valuation date. When a written option expires, the Fund realizes a gain equal to the amount of the premium originally received. When the Fund enters into a closing purchase transaction, the Fund realizes a gain (or loss if the cost of the closing purchase transaction exceeds the premium received when the option was written) without regard to any unrealized gain or loss on the underlying security, and the liability related to such option is eliminated. When a call option is exercised, the Fund realizes a gain or loss from the sale of the underlying security and the proceeds from such sale are increased by the amount of the premium originally received. When a put option is exercised, the amount of the premium originally received will reduce the cost of the security which the Fund purchased upon exercise.

Repurchase agreements: The Fund may engage in repurchase agreement transactions. The Adviser reviews and approves the eligibility of the banks and dealers with which the Fund may enter into repurchase agreement transactions. The value of the collateral underlying such transactions must be at least equal at all times to the total amount of the repurchase obligations, including interest. The Fund maintains possession of the collateral through its custodian and, in the event of counterparty default, the Fund has the right to use the collateral to offset losses incurred. There is the possibility of loss to the Fund in the event the Fund is delayed or prevented from exercising its rights to dispose of the collateral securities.

Federal income taxes: The Fund intends to continue to qualify as a regulated investment company by complying with the requirements under subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, (the Code) applicable to regulated investment companies and intends to distribute substantially all of its taxable net investment income to its shareholders. Therefore, no federal income tax provision is required.

Management has analyzed the Fund's tax positions taken on federal income tax returns for all open tax years (November 30, 2014, 2013 and 2012), and has concluded that no provision for federal income tax is required in the Fund's financial statements. The Fund's major tax jurisdictions are federal and the State of California. The Fund's federal and state income and federal excise tax returns for tax years for which the applicable statutes of limitations have not expired are subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service and state departments of revenue.

Dividends and distributions to shareholders: The Fund expects to declare dividends on a monthly basis to shareholders of Common Stock (Shareholders). Distributions to Shareholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. Any net realized short-term capital gains will be distributed to Shareholders at least annually. Any net realized long-term capital gains may be distributed to Shareholders at least annually or may be retained by the Fund as determined by the Fund's Board of Directors. Capital gains retained by the Fund are subject to tax at the capital gains corporate tax rate. Subject to the Fund qualifying as a regulated investment company, any taxes paid by the Fund on such net realized long-term capital gains may be used by the Fund's Shareholders as a credit against their own tax liabilities. The Fund may pay distributions in excess of the Fund's net investment company taxable income and this excess would be a tax-free return of capital distributed from the Fund's assets.

Income and capital gain distributions are determined and characterized in accordance with income tax regulations which may differ from U.S. GAAP. These differences are primarily due to (1) differing treatments of income and gains on various investment securities held by the Fund, including timing differences, (2) the attribution of expenses against certain components of taxable investment income, and (3) federal regulations requiring proportionate allocation of income and gains to all classes of shareholders.

Distributions from net realized gains for book purposes may include short-term capital gains, which are included as ordinary income for tax purposes, and may exclude amortization of premium and discount on certain fixed income securities, which are not reflected in ordinary income for tax purposes. The tax character of distributions paid during 2015 and 2014 was as follows:

	Distributions paid in fiscal year 2015		Distributions paid in fiscal year 2014
	Ordinary Income	Long-Term Capital Gains	Ordinary Income	Long-Term Capital Gains
Common Stock	N/A	N/A	$12,757,913	$0

As of November 30, 2014, the components of distributable earnings (i.e., ordinary income and capital gain/loss) available to Shareholders, on a tax basis, were as follows:

Capital (Loss) Carryforward	Undistributed Ordinary Income	Undistributed Long-Term Gain	Net Unrealized Appreciation/(Depreciation)
$(8,181,919)	$497,992	$0	$4,850,196

The composition of the Fund's accumulated realized capital losses is indicated below. These losses may be carried forward and offset against future capital gains through the dates listed below. During the year ended November 30, 2014, the Fund utilized $6,352,332 of capital losses expiring in 2017.

	No Expiration	No Expiration
2017	Short Term*	Long Term*	Total
$8,181,919	$0	$0	$8,181,919

* Under the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010, as amended (Modernization Act), the Fund will be permitted to carry forward capital losses incurred in taxable years beginning after December 22, 2010 indefinitely. However, any losses incurred during those future taxable years must be utilized prior to the losses incurred in pre-enactment taxable years. As a result, pre-enactment capital loss carryforwards may be more likely to expire unused. Additionally, post-enactment capital losses that are carried forward will retain their character as either short-term or long-term capital losses rather than being considered all short-term under previous law.

Excise tax: The Code imposes a 4% nondeductible excise tax on the Fund to the extent the Fund does not distribute by the end of any calendar year at least (1) 98% of the sum of its net investment income for that year and 98.2% of its capital gains (both long-term and short-term) for its fiscal year and (2) certain undistributed amounts from previous years. The Fund paid $21,941 of federal excise taxes attributable to calendar year 2014 in March 2015.

3. Derivative Instruments

The Fund intends to use derivatives primarily to economically hedge against risks in the portfolio, namely interest rate risk and credit risk. Historically, the Fund has used options on Treasury futures contracts for the purpose of economically hedging against a significant increase in long-term interest rates. When the strategy has been employed, the Fund would purchase put options on Treasury futures contracts that would increase in value if long-term interest rates increased significantly, offsetting some of the related decline in portfolio asset values. The Fund has also purchased and written call options on Treasury futures contracts to supplement the put option strategy and also to reduce the overall cost of the interest rate hedge (by earning premiums from the net sale of call options).

The Fund has the authority to use other derivatives for hedging or to increase expected return, but has not employed any of these derivatives to-date and does not anticipate broad use of these derivatives in the near future (although this may change without advance notice). Other approved derivatives strategies include: buying and selling credit default swaps, interest rate swaps and options thereon (swaptions), and options on securities. Accounting policies for specific derivatives, including the location of these items in the financial statements, are included in Note 2 as appropriate. No assurance can be given that such use of derivatives will achieve their desired purposes or, in the case of hedging, will result in an overall reduction of risk to the Fund.

The Fund did not use any derivatives during the six months ended May 31, 2015 and the fiscal year ended November 30, 2014.

Options on Financial Futures Contracts: When an interest rate hedging strategy is employed, the Fund intends to use options on financial futures contracts in much the same way as described above. The risk associated with purchasing options, and therefore the maximum loss the Fund would incur, is limited to the purchase price originally paid. The risk in writing a call option is that the Fund may forego the opportunity for profit if the market price of the underlying security increases and the option is exercised. The risk in writing a put option is that the Fund may incur a loss if the market price of the underlying security decreases and the option is exercised.

4. Investment Advisory Fee, Administration Fee, Transfer Agent Fee, Custodian Fee, Directors Fees and Chief Compliance Officer Fee

Flaherty & Crumrine Incorporated (the Adviser) serves as the Fund's investment adviser. The Fund pays the Adviser a monthly fee at an annual rate of 0.625% of the Fund's average monthly total managed assets up to $100 million and 0.50% of the Fund's average monthly total managed assets of $100 million or more.

For purposes of calculating the fees payable to the Adviser, Administrator and Custodian, the Fund's total managed assets means the total assets of the Fund (including any assets attributable to the Fund's preferred stock that may be outstanding or otherwise attributable to the use of leverage) minus the sum of accrued liabilities (other than debt, if any, representing financial leverage). For purposes of determining total managed assets, the liquidation preference of any outstanding preferred shares issued by the Fund is not treated as a liability.

BNY Mellon Investment Servicing (US) Inc. (BNY Mellon) serves as the Fund's administrator (the Administrator). As Administrator, BNY Mellon calculates the net asset value of the Fund's shares attributable to Common Stock and generally assists in all aspects of the Fund's administration and operation. As compensation for BNY Mellon's services as Administrator, the Fund pays BNY Mellon a monthly fee at an annual rate of 0.10% of the first $200 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets, 0.04% of the next $300 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets, 0.03% of the next $500 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets and 0.02% of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets above $1 billion.

BNY Mellon (c/o Computershare) also serves as the Fund's Common Stock dividend-paying agent and registrar (the Transfer Agent). As compensation for BNY Mellon's services as Transfer Agent, the Fund pays BNY Mellon a monthly fee in the amount of $1,500, plus certain out of pocket expenses.

The Bank of New York Mellon (the Custodian) serves as the Fund's Custodian. As compensation for the Custodian's services as custodian, the Fund pays the Custodian a monthly fee at the annual rate of 0.01% of the first $200 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets, 0.008% of the next $300 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets, 0.006% of the next $500 million of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets, and 0.005% of the Fund's average weekly total managed assets above $1 billion.

The Fund pays each Director who is not a director, officer or employee of the Adviser a fee of $9,000 per annum, plus $750 for each in-person meeting of the Board of Directors or Audit Committee, $500 for each in-person meeting of the Nominating Committee attended, and $250 for each telephone meeting.

attended. The Audit Committee Chairman receives an additional annual fee of $3,000. The Fund also reimburses all Directors for travel and out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with such meetings.

The Fund pays the Adviser a fee of $35,000 per annum for Chief Compliance Officer services and reimburses out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with providing services in this role.

5. Purchases and Sales of Securities

For the six months ended May 31, 2015, the cost of purchases and proceeds from sales of securities, excluding short-term investments, aggregated $6,680,214 and $4,419,255, respectively.

At May 31, 2015, the aggregate cost of securities for federal income tax purposes was $223,649,777 the aggregate gross unrealized appreciation for all securities in which there was an excess of value over tax cost was $19,227,869 and the aggregate gross unrealized depreciation for all securities in which there was an excess of tax cost over value was $15,769,126.

6. Common Stock

At May 31, 2015, 240,000,000 shares of $0.01 par value Common Stock were authorized.

Common Stock transactions were as follows:

	Six Months Ended 05/31/15		Year Ended 11/30/14
	Shares	Amount	Shares	Amount
Shares issued under the Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan	29,962	$ 431,217	31,450	$ 433,798

7. Preferred Stock

The Fund's Articles of Incorporation authorize the issuance of up to 10,000,000 shares of $0.01 par value preferred stock. The Fund does not currently have any issued and outstanding shares of preferred stock.

8. Committed Financing Agreement

The Fund has entered into a committed financing agreement (Financing Agreement) with BNP Paribas Prime Brokerage, Inc. that allows the Fund to borrow on a secured basis, which the Fund uses in the normal course of business as financial leverage. Such leveraging tends to magnify both the risks and opportunities to Shareholders. The Financing Agreement has been amended from time to time to allow for changes in the committed amount. As of May 31, 2015, the committed amount, and amount borrowed, under the Financing Agreement was $77.4 million.

The lender charges an annualized rate of 0.65% on the undrawn (committed) balance, and three-month LIBOR (reset quarterly) plus 0.75% on the drawn (borrowed) balance. For the six months ended May 31, 2015, the daily weighted average annualized interest rate on the drawn balance was 1.00% and the average daily loan balance was $76,017,582. LIBOR rates may vary in a manner unrelated to the income received on the Fund's assets, which could have either a beneficial or detrimental impact on net investment income and gains available to Shareholders.

The Fund is required to meet certain asset coverage requirements under the Financing Agreement and under the 1940 Act. In accordance with the asset coverage requirements, at least two-thirds of the Fund's assets are expected to be pledged as collateral assuming the full committed amount is drawn. Securities pledged as collateral are identified in the portfolio of investments. If the Fund fails to meet these requirements, or maintain other financial covenants required under the Financing Agreement, the Fund may be required to repay immediately, in part or in full, the amount borrowed under the Financing Agreement. Additionally, failure to meet the foregoing requirements or covenants could restrict the Fund's ability to pay dividends to Shareholders and could necessitate sales of portfolio securities at inopportune times. The Financing Agreement has no stated maturity, but may be terminated by either party without cause with six months' advance notice.

Under the terms of the Financing Agreement, the lender has the ability to borrow a portion of the securities pledged as collateral against the loan (Rehypothecated Securities), subject to certain limits. In connection with any Rehypothecated Securities, the Fund receives a fee from the lender equal to the greater of (x) 0.05% of the value of the Rehypothecated Securities and (y) 70% of net securities lending income. The Fund may recall any Rehypothecated Security at any time and the lender is required to return the security in a timely fashion. In the event the lender does not return the security, the Fund will have the right to, among other things, apply and set off an amount equal to 100% of the then-current fair market value of such Rehypothecated Securities against any loan amounts owed to the lender under the Financing Agreement. Rehypothecated Securities are marked-to-market daily and adjusted as necessary so the value of all Rehypothecated Securities does not exceed 100% of the loan amount under the Financing Agreement. The Fund will continue to earn and receive all dividends, interest, and other distributions on Rehypothecated Securities. Rehypothecated Securities are identified in the Portfolio of Investments, and fees earned from rehypothecation are included in the Statement of Operations.

9. Portfolio Investments, Concentration and Investment Quality

The Fund invests primarily in a diversified portfolio of preferred securities. This includes traditional preferred stocks eligible for the inter-corporate dividends received deduction (DRD) and fully taxable preferred securities. Under normal market conditions, at least 80% of the Fund's net assets will be invested in preferred securities. Also, under normal market conditions, the Fund invests at least 25% of its total assets in the financials sector, which for this purpose is comprised of the bank, thrifts and mortgage finance, diversified financial services, finance, consumer finance, capital markets, asset management and custody, investment banking and brokerage, insurance, insurance brokerage, and real estate investment trust (REIT) industries. From time to time, the Fund may have 25% or more of its total assets invested in any one of these industries. The Fund's portfolio may therefore be subject to greater risk and market fluctuation than a portfolio of securities representing a broader range of investment alternatives.

The Fund may invest up to 25% of its assets at the time of purchase in securities rated below investment grade by all of Moody's, S&P and Fitch, provided that (a) such securities are rated at least Ba3

by Moody's, BB- by S&P, or BB- by Fitch or (b) such securities are issued by an issuer having an outstanding class of senior debt rated investment grade by any one of Moody's, S&P, or Fitch at the time of purchase. Thus, the Fund may invest in securities rated below Ba3 by Moody's, BB- by S&P and BB- by Fitch if the issuer has investment grade senior debt outstanding. In addition, the Fund may invest in unrated securities that the Fund's investment adviser deems to be comparable in quality to rated issues in which the Fund is authorized to invest.

The Fund may invest up to 15% of its assets in common stocks and, under normal market conditions, up to 20% of its assets in debt securities. Certain of its investments in hybrid (i.e., fully taxable, preferred) securities will be subject to the foregoing 20% limitation to the extent that, in the opinion of the Adviser, such investments are deemed to be debt-like in key characteristics. Typically, a security will not be considered debt-like (a) if an issuer can defer payment of income for eighteen months or more without triggering an event of default and (b) if such issue is a junior and fully subordinated liability of an issuer or its ultimate guarantor.

In addition to foreign money market securities, the Fund may invest up to 30% of its total assets in the securities of companies organized or having their principal place of business outside the United States. All foreign securities held by the Fund will be denominated in U.S. dollars.

The Fund may employ certain investment techniques in accordance with its fundamental investment policies. These may include the use of when-issued and delayed delivery transactions. Securities purchased or sold on a when-issued or delayed delivery basis may be settled within 45 days after the date of the transaction. The Fund may also enter into transactions, in accordance with its investment policies, involving short sales of securities and purchases of securities on margin. Such transactions may expose the Fund to credit and market valuation risk greater than that associated with regular trade settlement procedures.

10. Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated the impact of all subsequent events on the Fund through the date the financial statements were issued, and has determined that there were no subsequent events requiring recognition or disclosure in the financial statements.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION (Unaudited)

Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan

Under the Fund's Dividend Reinvestment and Cash Purchase Plan (the Plan), a shareholder whose Common Stock is registered in his or her own name will have all distributions reinvested automatically by BNY Mellon as agent under the Plan, unless the shareholder elects to receive cash. Registered shareholders may elect to receive cash by contacting BNY Mellon at the number provided below. If shares are registered in the name of a broker-dealer or other nominee (that is, in street name) and the broker or nominee participates in the Plan, distributions may be reinvested by the broker or nominee in additional shares under the Plan, unless the shareholder elects to receive distributions in cash. Shareholders may elect to receive cash by contacting their broker or nominee. A shareholder who holds Common Stock registered in the name of a broker or other nominee may not be able to transfer the Common Stock to another broker or nominee and continue to participate in the Plan. Investors who own Common Stock registered in street name should consult their broker or nominee for details regarding reinvestment.

The number of shares of Common Stock distributed to participants in the Plan in lieu of a cash dividend is determined in the following manner. Whenever the market price per share of the Fund's Common Stock is equal to or exceeds the net asset value per share on the valuation date, participants in the Plan will be issued new shares valued at the higher of net asset value or 95% of the then current market value. Otherwise, BNY Mellon will buy shares of the Fund's Common Stock in the open market, on the New York Stock Exchange or elsewhere, on or shortly after the payment date of the dividend or distribution and continuing until the ex-dividend date of the Fund's next distribution to holders of the Common Stock or until it has expended for such purchases all of the cash that would otherwise be payable to the participants. The number of purchased shares that will then be credited to the participants' accounts will be based on the average per share purchase price of the shares so purchased, including brokerage commissions. If BNY Mellon commences purchases in the open market and the then current market price of the shares (plus any estimated brokerage commissions) subsequently exceeds their net asset value most recently determined before the completion of the purchases, BNY Mellon will attempt to terminate purchases in the open market and cause the Fund to issue the remaining dividend or distribution in shares. In this case, the number of shares received by the participant will be based on the weighted average of prices paid for shares purchased in the open market and the price at which the Fund issues the remaining shares. These remaining shares will be issued by the Fund at the higher of net asset value or 95% of the then current market value.

Plan participants are not subject to any charge for reinvesting dividends or capital gains distributions. Each Plan participant will, however, bear a proportionate share of brokerage commissions incurred with respect to BNY Mellon's open market purchases in connection with the reinvestment of dividends or capital gains distributions. For the six months ended May 31, 2015, no brokerage commissions were incurred.

The automatic reinvestment of dividends and capital gains distributions will not relieve Plan participants of any income tax that may be payable on the dividends or capital gains distributions. A participant in the Plan will be treated for Federal income tax purposes as having received, on the dividend payment date, a dividend or distribution in an amount equal to the cash that the participant could have received instead of shares.

In addition to acquiring shares of Common Stock through the reinvestment of cash dividends and distributions, a shareholder may invest any further amounts from $100 to $3,000 semi-annually at the then current market price in shares purchased through the Plan. Such semi-annual investments are subject to any brokerage commission charges incurred by BNY Mellon under the Plan.

A shareholder whose Common Stock is registered in his or her own name may terminate participation in the Plan at any time by notifying BNY Mellon in writing, by completing the form on the back of the Plan account statement and forwarding it to BNY Mellon, or by calling BNY Mellon, directly. A termination will be effective immediately if notice is received by BNY Mellon not less than 10 days before any dividend or distribution record date. Otherwise, the termination will be effective, and only with respect to any subsequent dividends or distributions, on the first day after the dividend or distribution has been credited to the participant's account in additional shares of the Fund. Upon termination and according to a participant's instructions, BNY Mellon will either (a) issue certificates for the whole shares credited to the shareholder's Plan account and a check representing any fractional shares or (b) sell the shares in the market. Shareholders who hold Common Stock registered in the name of a broker or other nominee should consult their broker or nominee to terminate participation.

The Plan is described in more detail in the Fund's Plan brochure. Information concerning the Plan may be obtained from BNY Mellon at 1-866-351-7446.

BOARD CONSIDERATION AND APPROVAL OF CONTINUANCE OF INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT

On January 21, 2015, the Board of Directors of the Fund (the Board) approved the continuation of the existing investment advisory agreement with the Adviser (the Agreement). The following paragraphs summarize the material information and factors considered by the Board, including the Non-Interested Directors, as well as their conclusions relative to such factors.

In considering whether to approve the Fund's Agreement, the Board members considered and discussed a substantial amount of information and analysis provided, at the Board's request, by the Adviser. The Board members also considered detailed information regarding performance and expenses of other investment companies thought to be generally comparable to the Fund. The Board members discussed with management this and other information relating to the Agreement during the Special Meeting held on January 14, 2015 for that specific purpose. In reaching their determinations relating to continuance of the Agreement, the Board members considered these discussions and all other factors they believed relevant, including the factors discussed below and their multi-year experience as directors of the Fund. In their deliberations, Board members did not identify any particular information that was all-important or controlling, and Board members may have attributed different weights to the various factors. The Board members evaluated this information, and all other information available to them, for the Fund, and their determinations were made separately in respect of each other Fund advised by the Adviser. In particular, the Board members focused on the following with respect to the Fund.

Nature, Extent and Quality of Services

The Board members reviewed in detail the nature and extent of services provided by the Adviser and the quality of those services over the past year and since inception. The Board members noted that these services included managing the Fund's investment program, as well as the continued provision of significant administrative services beyond what the Agreement required. The Board members noted that the Adviser also provided, generally at its expense: office facilities for use by the Fund; personnel responsible for supervising the performance of administrative, accounting and related services; and investment compliance monitoring. Board members also considered the Adviser's sound financial condition and the Adviser's commitment to its business. The Board members evaluated the Adviser's services based on their direct experience serving as Board members for many years, focusing on (i) the Adviser's knowledge of the preferred securities market generally, (ii) the Adviser's internal resources dedicated to identifying opportunities to add additional value through hedging and other sophisticated financial transactions, and (iii) the Adviser's culture of compliance. The Board members reviewed the personnel responsible for providing services to the Fund and observed that, based on their experience and interaction with the Adviser: (1) the Adviser's personnel exhibited a high level of personal integrity, diligence and attention to detail in carrying out their responsibilities under the Agreement; (2) the Adviser was responsive to requests of the Board, and its personnel were available between Board meetings to answer questions from Board members; and (3) the Adviser had kept the Board apprised of developments relating to the Fund. The Board members also considered continued efforts undertaken by the Adviser to maintain an effective compliance program. The Board members concluded that the nature and extent of the services provided were reasonable and appropriate in relation to the Fund's investment goals and strategies, the corporate and regulatory environment in which the Fund operates, the level of services provided by the Adviser, and that the quality of the Adviser's service continues to be high.

Investment Performance

The Board members took note of the extraordinary market conditions since 2008, the recovery in markets for the Fund's securities and the Fund's strong performance, which evidenced the Adviser's continued adherence to its investment discipline. The Board members were provided with information regarding the Fund's total return on net asset value performance in comparison to the performance of its peer funds for the 1-, 3-, 5- and 10-year periods, which showed that the Fund's performance was above the peer group average for all periods. The Board members reviewed the Fund's performance compared to relevant indices and funds thought to be generally comparable to the Fund and examined differences between the Fund and certain funds in the comparison group. The Board members also reviewed in detail relative fees and expenses of the Fund and the funds in the comparison group, including comparative advisory fee, administration fee and total expense ratios, and noted that the Fund had below average advisory fees, below average advisory/administration fees and an above average (by 2 bp) total expense ratio.

Profitability

The Board members considered the Adviser's methodology for determining its profitability with respect to the Fund, and the Adviser's profit margin on an after-tax basis attributable to managing the Fund based on two expense allocation methods. The Board members also considered the Adviser's assertion that it provided, at a lower cost, services to separate account clients and determined that the difference was justified in light of the additional services and costs associated with managing registered investment companies, such as the Fund. The Board members accepted the Adviser's statement that it did not realize material indirect benefits from its relationship with the Fund and did not obtain soft dollar credits from securities trading.

Economies of Scale

The Board members noted that the Fund, as a closed-end investment company, was not expected to increase materially in size and, based on adverse market conditions and lower levels of leverage, the Fund's size had declined from historic highs although over the past several years aggregate assets had increased as a result of market appreciation. In light of these circumstances, specifically the lack of material asset growth over time, the Board members considered that the Adviser would not benefit from economies of scale, especially where personnel and other Adviser costs of providing services did not decline commensurately. The Board members considered whether economies of scale could be realized because the Adviser advises other similar funds. The Board members acknowledged that, because the Adviser's portfolio management is focused exclusively on preferred securities, certain economies of scale could be realized across all of the Adviser's clients in terms of research and portfolio management and that these economies are shared by all of the Adviser's clients both through the overall level of fees and through reinvestment in the Adviser's business with technology, added personnel and infrastructure. The Board members also noted that the Fund's advisory fee schedules decline as assets increase beyond a certain level (commonly known as a "breakpoint"), and that breakpoints provide for a sharing with shareholders of benefits derived as a result of economies of scale arising from increased assets. Accordingly, the Board members determined that the existing advisory fee levels reflect possible economies of scale.

In light of their discussions and considerations as described above, the Board members made the following determinations:

the nature and extent of the services provided by the Adviser are reasonable and appropriate, and the quality of the services is high;

the Fund's overall performance over time has been satisfactory, given the Fund's investment policies and strategies and the Adviser's adherence to them; the fee paid to the Adviser was reasonable in light of (i) comparative performance and expense and advisory fee information, considered over relevant time periods, (ii) the cost of the services provided and profits realized, and (iii) the benefits derived or to be derived by the Adviser from the relationship with the Fund; and there were not at this time significant economies of scale to be realized by the Adviser in managing the Fund's assets, and the fee was structured to provide for a sharing of the benefits of economies of scale.

Based on these conclusions, the Board members determined that approval of the continuation of the Agreement was in the best interests of the Fund and its shareholders.
