Signet International Holdings, Inc. (OTCBB: SIGN) announced today that Eugene Nemirovskiy has joined the company organization as Vice President/CSO.

"I am pleased Eugene has joined us to head our R&D division at this juncture for Signet as we prepare to lead the technology and entertainment industries into an era of true visual multi-dimensionality. Our 3-D volumetric applications, as developed by Eugene, will transform the way all visual media is seen, used and enjoyed in the future," said Ernest Letiziano, Signet's CEO.

Mr. Nemirovskiy is the author of a number of worldwide-patented inventions, two discoveries in optics and one discovery in mathematics. Nemirovskiy recently invented single lens 3-D and 4-D digital cameras and a 4-D digital real time display for TV screens and soon to be released a 4-D volumetric attachment for computer monitors. Soon afterward, the company will introduce his Motion Picture technology to the industry. The Nemirovskiy products are trademarked under the name "SeproSight."

"I am excited about this remarkable opportunity at Signet," said Mr. Nemirovskiy.
