NOTES TO CONDENSED CONSOLIDATED FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
(Unaudited)

1. Basis of Presentation

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries (Professionals Direct Insurance Company (PDIC), a property and casualty insurance company providing professional liability insurance to attorneys; Professionals Direct Employer Organization, Inc., an inactive Michigan professional employer organization; Professionals Direct Finance, Inc. (Finance), a premium finance company; and Professionals Direct Insurance Services, Inc. (Services), a company providing underwriting, claims, accounting, information technology services and selling professionals liability and other insurance) plus Lawyers Direct Risk Purchasing Group, which the Company controls. Professionals Direct Statutory Trust I and Professionals Direct Statutory Trust II are accounted for under the equity method in the accompanying financial statements. They are not consolidated because the Company is not the primary beneficiary.

The condensed consolidated financial statements and notes as of and for the three and six-month periods ended June 30, 2006 and 2005 are unaudited. The condensed consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments (consisting of normal recurring accruals) that are, in the opinion of management, necessary for the fair presentation of the financial position, results of operations and cash flows for the interim periods. The results of operations for the interim periods should not be considered indicative of results to be expected for the full year.

2. Income per Share

Basic income per share is computed by dividing net income or loss by the weighted average number of shares of common stock outstanding, 333,500 for all periods. Diluted income per share is equal to basic income per share because there are no dilutive instruments outstanding.

3. Unusual Gain

Other income includes an unusual gain of $44 and $157 for the three and six months ended June 30, 2006, respectively, the portion of principal surplus certificate holders forgave in return for early redemption.

Item 2. Management's Discussion and Analysis

The following discussion and analysis for the six months ended June 30, 2006 should be read in conjunction with the condensed consolidated financial statements and the notes thereto included elsewhere in this report. The following discussion of our financial condition and results of operations contains certain forward-looking statements. A discussion of the limitations of forward-looking statements appears at the end of this section.

Introduction

Revenues increased for all lines when compared to 2005. Losses and loss adjustment expenses decreased when compared to 2005 because there was significantly less adverse development in the first half of 2006. The following table and discussion compares the financial results for 2006 and 2005:

Results of Operations (000 omitted):

The following is a summary and analysis of the material revenue and expense components of our operational results for the first six months and second quarter of 2006 with comparisons to 2005.

Net Premiums Earned. Net premiums earned is equal to direct premiums earned (premiums earned for policies written) less ceded premiums earned (amounts ceded to reinsurers) and is our primary source of revenue. The increase in net premiums earned is the result of higher beginning net unearned premium partially offset by lower net premiums written. The higher beginning unearned premium resulted from increased direct premiums written in 2005 when compared to 2004.

The effects of these changes are seen in the table below:

	Six Months Ended June 30,
	2006	2005	Change	Percent
	(in thousands of dollars)			Change
Beginning gross unearned premium	$ 11,776	$ 10,738	$ 1,038	9.7%
Beginning ceded unearned premium	(4,175)	(4,163)	(12)	(0.3%)
Beginning net unearned premium	7,601	6,575	1,026	15.6%
Direct premiums written	12,479	13,397	(918)	(6.9%)
Ceded premiums written	(4,492)	(4,792)	300	6.3%
Net premiums written	7,987	8,605	(618)	(7.2%)
Ending gross unearned premium	11,658	11,942	(284)	(2.4%)
Ending ceded unearned premium	(4,089)	(4,318)	229	5.3%
Ending net unearned premium	7,569	7,624	(55)	(0.7%)
Net premiums earned	$ 8,019	$ 7,556	$ 466	6.2%

During the first six months of 2006, direct and net premiums written decreased. This decrease resulted from competitive pressure on renewal rates for larger law firms, primarily in Michigan and Florida.

For policies with 2006 effective dates, PDIC's retention is unchanged from 2005. Decisions on the appropriate level of reinsurance are impacted by a variety of factors from pricing, to availability and credit quality of reinsurers, and our level of surplus. As such, reinsurance retentions may vary from year to year. After analyzing our surplus, we decided to maintain our retention level, which market conditions allowed us to do.

Fees and Commissions. Fees and commissions originate from two primary sources. First are membership fees, which are earned by Lawyers Direct Risk Purchasing Group ("Lawyers Direct"), an affiliate organized and managed by Services, as part of the Lawyers Direct(r) program for one to five person law firms. Second are commissions, which are earned from placing insurance with unrelated third parties and performing management services. Fees and commissions earned in the first half of 2006 were $444, an increase of $280 when compared to the first half of 2005. While fees from Lawyers Direct were $10 less than in 2005, commission income increased $290. This resulted from placing more business with other carriers in 2006 and the reversal of contingent ceding commissions in 2005 caused by adverse loss development.

Net Investment Income. Net investment income is comprised of interest on fixed maturity investments and realized investment gains and losses. The net investment income increase of $215 or 42% in the first six months of 2006 as compared to 2005 is primarily attributable to an improvement in average yield resulting from an increase in interest rates. The tax equivalent book yield on the portfolio increased 80 basis points from a year ago and is now over 4.3%.

Finance and Other Income. Finance income is generated from premium financing incidental to the sale of PDIC's insurance policies. Premium financing is offered to PDIC policyholders in Michigan and selected other states. Finance income was $24 higher in the first half of 2006 than in the first half of 2005, principally because the rate being charged was increased in the fourth quarter of 2005. During the first six months of 2006, PDIC redeemed 341 surplus certificates as part of a redemption program. This redemption resulted in an unusual gain of $157, the portion of principal surplus certificate holders forgave in return for early redemption.

Losses and Loss Adjustment Expenses. Overall profitability is materially influenced by the loss estimate for current year claims, plus the favorable or adverse development related to estimates for prior years' claims. During the first six months of 2006, PDIC recorded losses and loss adjustment expenses of $5,970 of which $5,585 was for claims made and reported in 2006 and $385 was for claims made and reported in prior years. During the first six months of 2005, PDIC recorded losses and loss adjustment expenses of $7,276 of which $5,320 was for claims made and reported in 2005 and $1,956 was for claims made and reported in prior years. The increases in prior years' losses resulted from adjusting those years' loss ratios to reflect current experience.

The loss ratio is the sum of the losses and loss adjustment expenses incurred expressed as a percentage of net premiums earned. The loss ratio for the first six months of 2006 was 74.4% compared to 96.3% in 2005. In the first half of 2006, the increase in estimate for prior years' claims resulted in an increase in the loss ratio of 4.8%. In the first half of 2005, the increase in estimate for prior years' claims resulted in an increase in the loss ratio of 25.9%.

PDIC maintains reserves for payment of losses and loss adjustment expenses for reported claims and for claims incurred but not reported arising from policies that have been issued. PDIC provides for the estimated ultimate cost of those claims without regard to how long it takes to settle them or the time value of money. The determination of reserves involves actuarial and statistical projections of what PDIC expects to be the cost of the ultimate settlement and administration of such claims based on facts and circumstances then known, estimates of future trends in claim severity, and other variable factors such as inflation and changing judicial theories of liability.

Management estimates of the loss reserve liability are reviewed by independent actuaries twice each year. Several variables and methodologies are used to calculate the appropriate amount of the loss reserve liability that should be recorded. Key variables utilized to develop the loss reserve estimate include:

- Loss reporting patterns
- Payment patterns
- Loss severity trend rates
- Application of Michigan loss patterns and loss to premium relationships to non-Michigan business
- Case reserve setting patterns

The key actuarial methodologies used include:

- Incurred development method
- Paid development method
- Case development method
- Incurred Bornhuetter-Ferguson method

Paid Bornhuetter-Ferguson method
Frequency/severity method

Small changes to any of the assumptions regarding the key variables can significantly alter the outcome of the actuarial analysis. Because of the number of factors considered, it is neither practical nor meaningful to isolate a single variable and calculate the impact of changing that item.

An in-depth review of loss reserves is undertaken on a semi-annual basis. However, management continually reviews and updates the data underlying the estimation of its loss reserves and makes adjustments when we believe the emerging data supports a change. Any adjustments necessary are reflected in current operations. As a result of the variety of variables and methodologies that are considered, there is a significant risk that actual incurred losses will develop differently from these estimates.

In the years after a claim is reported, there is a significant amount of uncertainty over what the ultimate loss will be. Therefore, the estimate of future loss costs for claims recently reported tends to be less accurate. As claims get older, the estimate of future loss costs may be less inaccurate, but are still subject to material fluctuations until the claims are paid or otherwise closed. Eventually, all claims in a particular year are paid or closed and no additional development, favorable or adverse, will be experienced because the amount of the loss is certain.

Another factor that impacts incurred losses is development related to claims reported in prior years. Favorable or adverse development occurs when subsequent estimates of the loss change. A subsequent decrease in estimate results in favorable development; a subsequent increase in estimate results in adverse development. Favorable or adverse development is reflected as a decrease or increase in the current year's losses and loss adjustment expenses.

The estimation of ultimate liability for losses and loss adjustment expenses is an inherently uncertain process and does not represent an exact calculation of that liability. Claims may not be brought until several years after the acts or omissions that gave rise to the claim occurred. Ultimate loss costs, even for similar events, vary significantly depending upon many factors. Professional liability claims are typically resolved over an extended period of time, often three years or more. The combination of changing conditions and the extended time required for claim resolution results in a loss cost estimation process that requires actuarial expertise and the application of significant judgment. Such estimates require periodic revision. PDIC's current reserve policy recognizes this uncertainty by maintaining case supplement reserves (commonly referred to as IBNR reserves) to provide for the possibility that actual results may be less favorable compared to the estimated costs as developed during the normal case reserve estimation process. The case supplement reserve is determined by estimating the ultimate liability for all claims which have been made and reported and then subtracting the case reserves. Case supplement reserves as a percentage of total reserves at June 30, 2006 were 42.9%. PDIC does not discount its reserves to recognize the time value of money.

When a claim is reported to PDIC, claims personnel establish a case reserve for the estimated amount of the ultimate payment. This estimate reflects an informed judgment based upon general insurance reserving practices and on the experience and knowledge of the estimator regarding the nature and value of the specific claim, the severity of injury or damage, and the policy provisions relating to the type of loss. The claims staff periodically adjusts the loss estimate as more information becomes available.

Each quarter, PDIC computes its estimated liability using appropriate principles and procedures. Because the establishment of loss reserves is an inherently uncertain process, however, there can be no assurance that losses will not exceed reserves. Adjustments in aggregate reserves, if any, are reflected in the operating results of the period during which such adjustments are made. As required by insurance regulatory authorities, PDIC annually receives a statement of opinion from its appointed actuary concerning the reasonableness of its reserves.

Operating and Administrative Expenses. Operating and administrative expenses for the first six months of 2006 compared to the same period for 2005 increased $196 or 10.4%. This increase is the result of reduced ceding commissions earned in 2006 compared to 2005 and increased compensation costs and insurance assessments. Ceding commissions have declined consistent with decreases in ceded premium and account for $95 of the increase. Compensation costs and insurance assessments account equally for the remainder of the increase.

Interest Expense. Interest expense for the first six months of 2006 increased $62 from the same period in 2005 because of increases in interest rates and outstanding debt.

Income Taxes. The effective federal income tax rate for the 2006 expense is 28.4% and for the 2005 benefit is 35.5%. While the 2005 effective rate approximates the expected rate, the 2006 effective rate is lower because of tax-exempt interest income.

Financial Condition, Liquidity, and Capital Resources (000 omitted):

Professionals Direct, Inc. is a legal entity separate and distinct from its subsidiaries. Because the parent holding company has no other business operations, management fees and dividends from its subsidiaries represent the principal source of funds for its obligations, including debt service. The management fees paid by PDIC are pre-approved by the Office of Financial and Insurance Services, the regulatory body in Michigan responsible for the oversight of the insurance subsidiary. Under the terms of the plan that governed the Company's conversion from a mutual insurance company to a stock insurance company, PDIC is prohibited from making any dividend payments to Professionals Direct, Inc. until such time as the surplus certificates are repaid in full. The management fees paid by the remaining subsidiaries are determined from time-to-time by the Board of Directors. The payment of management fees and dividends by the other subsidiaries is limited only by solvency requirements.

The primary sources of liquidity, on both a short-term and long-term basis, are funds provided by insurance premiums collected, net investment income, recoveries from reinsurance, and proceeds from the maturity or sale of invested assets. The primary uses of cash, on both a short-term and long-term basis, are losses, loss adjustment expenses, operating expenses, reinsurance premiums, taxes, debt repayment and acquisition of investments.

Trends or uncertainties that may have an impact on short-term or long-term liquidity include changes in the cost and availability of reinsurance, changes in interest rates and changes in investment income. As the costs of obtaining reinsurance may change in the future, we intend to adjust the rates we charge our customers. However, such rate changes may be limited by competition or regulation. We believe that we will be able to manage reinsurance costs so the impact on overall liquidity is minimized.

When interest rates decline, the cost of borrowing decreases and the market value of our investment portfolio, which primarily consists of debt securities, generally increases. At the same time, the overall yield on new investments tends to decrease. When interest rates increase, the opposite effects are realized. Interest rates continue to climb from the historical lows experienced in the last few years. We believe that it is unlikely material gains will be realized on portfolio assets or be a source of liquidity during 2006.

At June 30, 2006, cash and cash equivalents totaled $4,410 which management believes represents the liquid assets necessary to meet operating, loss and reinsurance payments.

Our net cash flow from operations for the first six months of 2006 was $604 compared to $1,165 for the first six months of 2005, a decrease of $561. As written and ceded premiums stabilize, so does cash flow from operations. Cash flow for both periods was invested in fixed maturities and used to repay lines of credit and redeem surplus certificates.

To provide additional liquidity, we have three lines of credit available from a bank. The first line is a $1,800 revolving line used by Finance to finance insurance premiums and bears interest at .5% over the bank's prime rate. The second line for $1,000 can be used for general corporate purposes and bears interest at 1% over the bank's prime rate. The third line is a $3,000 declining balance facility that matures October 1, 2006. As a result of the declining balance feature, the maximum credit available under this facility at June 30, 2006 was $1,600. None of the lines had outstanding balances as of June 30, 2006. These lines of credit require, among other things, that we maintain a minimum tangible net worth of $7,500, that PDIC maintain a minimum surplus of not less than 240% of the Authorized Control Level Risk Based Capital (as defined by the National Association of Insurance Commissioners), and that we deliver periodic financial reports to the bank. The Company was in compliance with all covenants as of June 30, 2006. The bank has a security interest in substantially all assets of the Company, Services and Finance. In addition, the shares of PDIC are pledged, subject to the rights of policyholders under insurance laws and the authority of insurance regulators.

Based on historical trends, market conditions and our business plans, we believe that our existing resources and sources of funds will be sufficient to meet our short-term and long-term liquidity needs over the next year and beyond. Because economic, market and regulatory conditions may change, however, there can be no assurance that our funds will be sufficient to meet these liquidity needs. In addition, competition, pricing, the frequency and severity of losses and interest rates could significantly affect our short-term and long-term liquidity needs.

Critical Accounting Estimates and Judgments:

The notes to the consolidated financial statements contain a summary of the Company's significant accounting policies presented on pages 20 through 23 of the Annual Report to Shareholders for the year ended December 31, 2005. Certain of these policies are important to the portrayal of the Company's financial condition, because they require management to make difficult, complex or subjective judgments, some of which may relate to matters that are inherently uncertain.

The condensed consolidated financial statements include certain amounts, based upon informed estimates and judgments made by management, for transactions not yet complete or for which the ultimate resolution is not certain. Such estimates and judgments affect the reported amounts in the financial statements. Although management believes that they are making the best decisions based upon information then available, it is possible that as conditions and experience develop, these estimates may change and may be materially different from originally reported in the financial statements. Our reserves for unpaid losses and loss adjustment expenses and the related amounts due from reinsurers represent the most critical estimates present within the financial statements. Amounts recoverable from reinsurers are estimated in a manner consistent with the provisions of the reinsurance agreement and the establishment of the liability for loss and loss adjustment expenses.
