FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

TURKCELL RAISES US$100 MILLION IN ISLAMIC FINANCE SYNDICATE

Istanbul, Turkey: January 16, 2004--Turkcell (NYSE:TKC, ISE: TCELL), the leading provider of mobile communications services in Turkey, has secured a syndicated Murabaha facility of US$100 million from a consortium arranged by the Islamic Development Bank and HSBC

The facility is to support the purchase of equipment required by Turkcell for its continuing program of upgrading and maintaining the country's premier GSM service.

This medium-term facility, with a tenure of 24 months, was initially launched as a general syndication of US$75 million. The market support for the transaction was very strong and over US$110 million was committed by the banks. This strong response made it possible for the facility to be increased to a total of US$100 million. The Islamic Development Bank and HSBC Bank A.S. will each contribute US$20 million to the syndication through independent financing facilities, which are coordinated by an agreement providing one seamless facility..

The financial institutions involved in the syndication are:

Arrangers and Participants: Islamic Development Bank and HSBC Bank A.S.

Co-arranger: Dubai Islamic Bank

Lead Managers: Saudi Economic and Development Company
Faisal Islamic Bank of Egypt Islamic Corporation for the Development of the Private Sector
National Bank of Pakistan
The Arab Investment Company

Manager: Islamic Corporation for the Insurance of Investment and Export Credit

Participant: Arab Islamic Bank

The Facility agreements were signed at Turkcell's headquarters in Istanbul on January 16, 2004.

Mr Muzaffer Akpinar, Chief Executive Officer of Turkcell, said: "This facility is a sign of trust from the international finance industry and Islamic finance in particular to the Turkish economy, as well as to Turkcell. Turkcell is honored to be a recipient of such a diverse and high quality funding base. We intend to continue to serve our customers and stakeholders globally to provide technology that enables effective and reliable communications of all types."

Piraye Antika, HSBC Bank A.S Chief Executive, said: "The strength of Turkcell's standing in the international financial markets and the quality of its relationships with the international banking community are reflected by this debut Murabaha facility. The quality of the investor group is testimony to Turkcell's strong standing in the Gulf region. I also believe that it shows the support that Turkey attracts from the Islamic finance community."

Nabil Nasief, Adviser, Asset Management Department of the Islamic Development Bank, said: "This financing represents the IDB's continuing service to its member countries on both public and private sector levels. The IDB has provided over US$3.3 billion of Islamic financing in the period from January 1, 1976 to March 3, 2003 to both public and private sector entities based in the Republic of Turkey. This latest facility for Turkcell is especially important as it brings together many Islamic financial institutions and the HSBC Group's renowned Islamic Finance capabilities."
