APPENDIX A

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Measures

The Company occasionally utilizes financial measures and terms not calculated in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States ( GAAP ) in order to provide investors with an alternative method for assessing our operating results in a manner that enables investors to more thoroughly evaluate our current performance as compared to past performance. We also believe these non-GAAP measures provide investors with a better baseline for modeling the Company s future earnings expectations. Our management uses these non-GAAP measures for the same purpose. We believe that our investors should have access to the same set of tools that we use in analyzing our results. These non-GAAP measures should be considered in addition to results prepared in accordance with GAAP, but should not be considered a substitute for or superior to GAAP results. The Company s calculations of Adjusted EBITDA and Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations are not necessarily comparable to similarly titled measures reported by other companies. We have provided a definition below for these non-GAAP financial measures, together with an explanation of why management uses these measures and why management believes that these non-GAAP financial measures are useful to investors. In addition, we have provided a table within the Earnings Release to reconcile these non-GAAP financial measures utilized therein to its equivalent GAAP financial measure.

Adjusted EBITDA

We define Adjusted EBITDA as GAAP net (loss) income before depreciation and amortization, interest expense, income taxes, (gain) loss on sale of assets, loss from discontinued operations, and other non-cash or non-recurring charges including asset impairments, facility closure costs, severance, expensed acquisition costs, and stock compensation expense. Our management uses Adjusted EBITDA as a supplemental measure in the evaluation of our business and believes that Adjusted EBITDA provides a meaningful measure of our performance because it eliminates the effects of period to period changes in taxes, costs associated with capital investments, interest expense, stock compensation expense, and other non-cash and non-recurring charges. Adjusted EBITDA is not a financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net (loss) income or other financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. When evaluating Adjusted EBITDA, investors should consider, among other factors, (i) increasing or decreasing trends in Adjusted EBITDA, (ii) whether Adjusted EBITDA has remained at positive levels historically, and (iii) how Adjusted EBITDA compares to our debt outstanding. We provide a reconciliation of Adjusted EBITDA to GAAP net (loss) income. Because Adjusted EBITDA excludes some, but not all, items that affect net (loss) income and may vary among companies, Adjusted EBITDA presented by the Company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies. Adjusted EBITDA does not give effect to the cash we must use to service our debt or pay income taxes and thus does not reflect the funds generated from operations or actually available for capital investments.

Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations

We define Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations as GAAP income (loss) from continuing operations before non-cash or non-recurring charges including asset impairments, facility closure costs and tax valuation allowances. Our management uses Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations as a supplemental measure in the evaluation of our business and believes that Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations provides a meaningful measure of our performance because it eliminates the effects of period to period non-cash and non-recurring charges. Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations is not a financial measure calculated in accordance with GAAP. Accordingly, it should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for net income (loss) from continuing operations or other financial measures prepared in accordance with GAAP. When evaluating Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations, investors should consider, among other factors, (i) increasing or decreasing trends in Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations, and (ii) whether Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations has remained at positive levels historically. We provide a reconciliation of Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations to GAAP net income (loss) from continuing operations. Because Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations excludes some, but not all, items that affect income (loss) from continuing operations and may vary among companies, Adjusted income (loss) from continuing operations presented by the Company may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other companies.

Other Definitions

Market Share

Our market share calculation compares commodity price-adjusted change in sales to estimated changes in housing starts on a same-store basis. Estimated housing starts represent permits obtained in our markets lagged one month to become an assumed start.
