CNA FINANCIAL ANNOUNCES
1st QUARTER 2003 RESULTS

CHICAGO, May 8, 2003 - CNA Financial Corporation (NYSE: CNA) today reported net income for the first quarter of 2003 of $83 million, or $0.30 per share, as compared with net income of $20 million, or $0.09 per share, for the same period in 2002. Net operating income from continuing operations was $132 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with $110 million in the first quarter of 2002.

The year over year improvement in net operating income was primarily due to an approximate 5-point improvement in the current net accident year loss ratio for the primary property and casualty businesses. During the first quarter, the Company continued to achieve strong premium rate increases and solid production of new business. These improvements were partially offset by unfavorable prior year net reserve development, principally within Standard Lines, and decreased operating results for Life Operations.

We are pleased with another quarter of steady progress, said Stephen W. Lilienthal, Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the CNA insurance companies. Our Property & Casualty segments, including CNA Re, came through with top-line growth, a good flow of new business and improved loss ratios. Our Life and Group businesses remained profitable, with good prospects for profitable growth even as we curtail new business in individual long term care.

Business Operating Highlights

Certain non-GAAP measures presented in this press release are used by management to monitor CNA's operating performance. Net operating income (loss) excludes the after-tax effects of net realized investment gains or losses, gains or losses from discontinued operations and any cumulative effects of changes in accounting principles, which are included in net income. Management excludes after-tax net realized investment gains or losses from net operating income (loss) because net realized investment gains or losses related to the Company's available-for-sale investment portfolio are largely discretionary, except for losses related to other-than-temporary impairments, are generally driven by economic factors that are not necessarily consistent with key drivers of underwriting performance, and are therefore not an indication of trends in operations. The Company believes that net operating income (loss) is a meaningful measure of operating performance for insurance companies.

Standard Lines includes standard property and casualty coverages sold to small and middle market commercial businesses primarily through an independent agency distribution system, and excess and surplus lines, as well as insurance and risk management products sold to large corporations.

Net written premiums increased $21 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002.

Standard Lines achieved average rate increases during the first quarter of 2003 of 21%, primarily in the excess and surplus lines as well as risk management products.

Net operating results improved $25 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due primarily to continued improvement in the current net accident year loss ratio and higher net investment income. These improvements were partially offset by unfavorable prior year net reserve development, primarily in excess and surplus lines and risk management products. The 2003 net operating results also include approximately $17 million of pretax eBusiness expenses. The eBusiness expenses were included in the Corporate and Other segment during 2002.

Table of Contents

Specialty Lines provides a broad array of professional, financial and specialty property and casualty products and services in the U.S. and abroad.

Net written premiums increased $124 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, primarily in the professional liability lines.

Specialty Lines achieved average rate increases during the first quarter of 2003 of 31%, primarily across most professional liability lines of business.

Net operating results improved $12 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due primarily to improvements in the current net accident year loss ratio and net investment income. The 2002 results included an $18 million non-recurring currency translation gain related to an Argentinean subsidiary.

CNA Re operates globally as a reinsurer in the broker market for treaty products and in the direct market for facultative products.

Net written premiums increased $38 million for the first quarter of 2003 for CNA Re as compared with the same period in 2002.

CNA Re achieved average rate increases during the first quarter of 2003 of approximately 10%.

Net operating results decreased $15 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, primarily due to the absence of an $18 million benefit, recorded in 2002, related to cessions to a corporate aggregate reinsurance treaty, partially offset by improvement in the 2003 net accident year loss ratio.

Group Operations provides a broad array of group life and group health insurance and investment products and services to employers, affinity groups and other entities that purchase insurance as a group.

Net earned premiums decreased $590 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due principally to the transfer of the Mail Handlers Plan, partially offset by growth in the disability, life and long term care lines of business within Group Benefits.

Net operating results increased $1 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due primarily to favorable mortality in institutional markets and the absence of unfavorable operating results from the variable annuity product, which was sold in 2002. These improvements were partially offset by the absence of favorable operating results for the Mail Handlers Plan.

Table of Contents

Life Operations provides financial protection to individuals through a full product line of term life insurance, universal life insurance, long term care insurance, annuities and other products. Life Operations has several distribution relationships and partnerships including managing general agencies, other independent agencies working with CNA life sales offices, a network of brokers and dealers, and other independent insurance consultants.

Net earned premiums increased $16 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due principally to growth in long term care. Based on current market conditions, the Company expects a lower rate of premium growth in its long term care product for the remainder of 2003.

Net operating results from continuing operations decreased $21 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due primarily to unfavorable long term care morbidity and a $5 million after-tax write-off of capitalized software costs, partially offset by increased income related to life settlement contracts and improved mortality in life insurance.

Corporate and Other segment contains certain corporate expenses such as interest on corporate debt and losses and expenses related to the centralized adjusting and settlement of asbestos, environmental pollution and mass tort claims. In addition, this segment includes the results of certain run-off insurance and non-insurance operations, including group reinsurance.

Net operating results improved $20 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002, due primarily to decreased eBusiness expenses and lower interest expense on corporate debt. Beginning in 2003, expenses related to eBusiness were included within property and casualty operations.

Investment Highlights

Pretax net investment income increased $6 million to $432 million for the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002. The change was primarily due to increased limited partnership income and lower interest costs related to certain reinsurance contracts, partially offset by a decline in investment yields for core securities.

Net realized investment results decreased $51 million after-tax in the first quarter of 2003 as compared with the same period in 2002. This change is due primarily to investment related impairment charges of $166 million after-tax in the first quarter of 2003 across various market sectors including the airline, healthcare and energy industries. These impairment losses were partially offset by gains on sales of fixed maturity securities.
